EMORY STUDENTS WHOOP UP PARADE—Emory University's biggest weekend, next weekend's Dooley's Frolics, was ushered in last night with as loud and blazing a parade as the school has seen in many a year. More than 300 students turned out for the resurrection of the skeleton which will be king of the festivities held every May.

Chrysler Walkout Is Settled

Bitterness Marks
100-Day Strike's End

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler's 89,000 striking CIO United Auto Workers will start streaming back to work Monday—their 100-day strike ended.

Settlement came yesterday on a note of bitterness like that on which it began. Each side verbally slapped the other, after the 8:25 a. m. (EST) contract signing.

A trickle of the 89,000 idled in Chrysler supplier plants already had been called back to their ment.

Greatest month in auto history looks as industry shifts back into high. Story, Pg. 17.

When they end their string of payless paydays, Chrysler workers will be going back with everything they asked in the way of $100 monthly pensions (including Federal Social Security benefits), backed by a jointly administered trust fund.

The union got benefits it said equalling the "10-cents-an-hour package" it asked when the strike was called Jan. 25. It failed, however, to get a union shop and total benefits of 28 cents an hour that it demanded when negotiations on a new contract opened way back on July 6, 1949.

Bitterness marked negotiations from the walkout to settlement and as yesterday's signing was announced, UAW Pres. Walter Reuther angrily said:

"Chrysler Corporation has sunk to a low never before attained in the auto industry. As late as Wednesday, Mr. Weckler (Herman L. Weckler, Chrysler Vice President and General Manager) protested the facts."

Weckler repeated Wednesday his charge that the UAW was stalling settlement to collect a maximum strike fund under $1 weekly assessments against working union members.

The 12-week assessment period ended Wednesday. When all collections are in they will total approximately $7,000,000, of which less than $3,000,000 already has been expended.

Estimates show that strikers averaged wage losses of $1,000 each because of the walkout. With new 10-cent hourly gains it would take them five years to make up the lost pay.

The 100-member UAW Chrysler conference approved the pension-contract terms in a 374-hour Thursday night meeting, with only six dissenting votes. The delegates promptly departed for their respective locals throughout the country to recommend membership endorsement.

THEM DRY BONES!—Buried for the past year, Emory's once-a-year carnival figure rises to commence his 10-day reign. He was found in a grave near the cafeteria building last night as the students, including straw-hatted seniors, chanted his name. (Story on Page 31.)

Lakewood Rides Face Rigid, Periodic Tests

Fatal 'Scrambler' Crash Echoes
In Benton's Inspection Program

Rigid, periodic inspection of the 17 rides maintained at Lakewood Park will be launched to prevent future failures such as that which claimed the life of an Atlanta man Sunday.

This assurance came from Mike Benton, President of the Southeastern Fair Association, who said certified safety engineers will inspect the rides and that none will operate in the future unless they are approved as safe.

Benton said the inspection by the association engineers will supplement other examinations annually by city inspectors and those made by insurance inspectors before liability insurance is issued to ride owners.

The new policy was promulgated after the Sunday "Scrambler" crash in which James Carl Greenwood, Jr., 21, of 715 Elbert St., S. W., was killed and four others injured.

Attaches of the city building inspection office said every ride at Lakewood is inspected each year before the Fair opens. Benton said he is informed insurance companies insist their safety engineers inspect every installation before liability insurance is issued.

He added he has informed R. H. Harris, owner of the "Scrambler," not to place it back in operation until Fair Association engineers have certified it. He said all other rides would be inspected by association experts immediately.

MacArthur Tells Off Russian

Curtly Rejects
Protest Over
Military Bases

TOKYO (UPI)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur dismissed a Russian complaint against the development of military bases in Japan and Okinawa as "a vehicle of propaganda or a provocative impertinence" yesterday.

"I cannot accept the integrity of intent of your letter," MacArthur said in a flat—almost contemptuous—rejection of the protest sent him by Lt. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, Soviet member of the Allied Council.

To Derevyanko's demand for an explanation of the military base situation, MacArthur said:

1—Both the United States and Great Britain will continue to maintain bases in Japan for the duration of the occupation "in a condition of such adequacy and preparedness as will insure the fullest security and operational efficiency, and the most complete readiness for any eventuality."

2—Insofar as Okinawa is concerned, that island and the Ryukyu group of which it is a part are "subject entirely to United States government direction and operation" and it is none of Russia's business what goes on there.

Derevyanko's representations regarding Okinawa, MacArthur said, constitute "presumption without the slightest excuse of validity."

Derevyanko alleged that the military base development is a violation of agreements of the Far East Commission.

"Your professed anxiety with reference to Japan proper, which is subject to limited international supervision, is quite groundless," MacArthur replied.

Japan itself, he said, has long been completely demilitarized and no Japanese military forces exist.

What happens to present Allied military bases, he said, is not up to the Allied Council for decision. That can be determined only by peace treaty, he added.

"All of these facts are so well known to you, who have been here from the beginning of the occupation, that I cannot accept the integrity of intent of your letter," MacArthur told Derevyanko.

MacArthur not only told Derevyanko that Allied bases would be maintained in Japan but said "military details affecting them are affairs which concern only their commanders."

As for the Ryukyus, MacArthur said, "neither the Far East Commission nor the Allied Council for Japan has anything whatsoever to do with their administration."

"The United States Government is entirely free to take such military measures therein as it may deem advisable," MacArthur said.

Truman Opens State Files To Senate's Loyalty Test

Probers To Step Up McCarthy's Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman yesterday agreed to give Senate investigators the complete State Department loyalty files—including some FBI data—on the 81 cases cited by Sen. McCarthy in his charge of Communism in the government.

Mr. Truman's reversal of his earlier refusal to open the files was announced by Chairman Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, of a Senate committee which has been looking into McCarthy's allegations.

Tydings said Mr. Truman's approval does not cover all the FBI files, which the President has adamantly refused to surrender.

Tydings' announcement capped a day which saw McCarthy make a new charge—that State Department employees helped a spy ring feed U. S. atomic secrets to Russia in 1945—and a former Federal agent, Frank Bielski, gave partial support to McCarthy's statement.

In another development, the House Un-American Activities Committee heard testimony from two witnesses that William W. Remington, much investigated Government official, was a Communist in the '30s.

Remington denied it.

Tydings disclosed Mr. Truman's change on the loyalty files question at a news conference.

In March, Mr. Truman had balked at turning over the files to the Tydings Committee on the ground that it would harm the FBI's operations, wreck the Federal loyalty program and "smear" innocent persons.

Tydings said the President has now consented to let the Committee examine the State Department loyalty records after being advised that those files have already been scrutinized by four other congressional committees several years ago.

The President stirred some bewilderment on Capitol Hill earlier with his statement that the outlook has improved in the cold war with Russia.

Mr. Truman said the situation is not nearly as bad as it was in the first half of 1946.

Legislators commented that apparently Mr. Truman did not see quite eye to eye with his two highest military advisers, Secretary of Defense Johnson and Gen. Omar Bradley, or with other defense chiefs who have made some emphatic remarks recently about the Soviet threat.

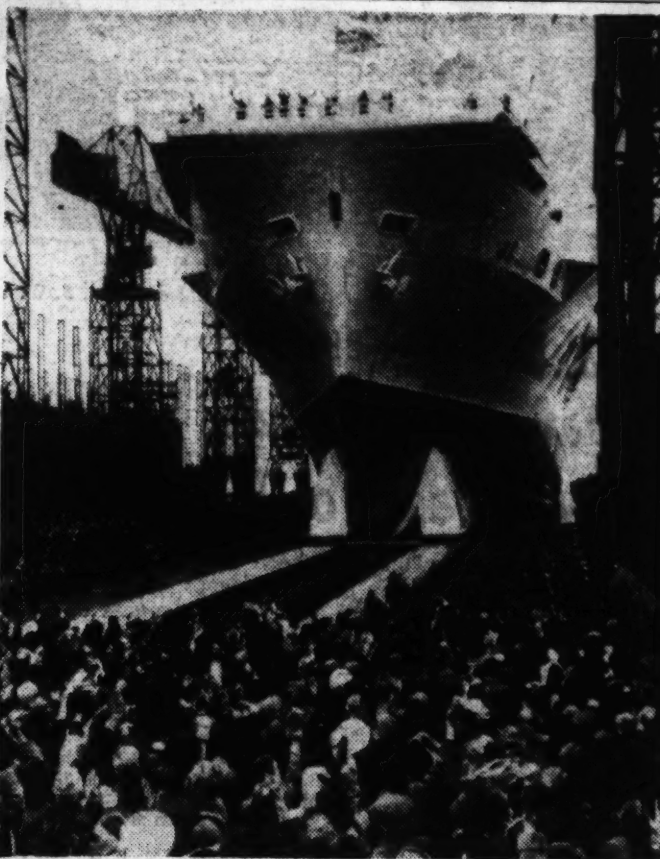

The President's statement particularly baffled Congressmen working in a bi-partisan effort to strengthen the nation's armed forces against a possible emergency.

It came shortly after a reluctant House Armed Services Committee voted to extend the draft two more years.

The committee acted after closed-door testimony yesterday by Secretary Johnson, officials of the State Department and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Bradley is Chairman of the Joint Chiefs.

Committee Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, commented: "I'm relying on what General Bradley and the other members of the joint chiefs of staff told us."

Bradley said at public session Tuesday that recent events add up to "a very bad situation." He took the position that the situation was worse than it had been some months ago, although his emphasis that war is far from inevitable if the United States stays strong.

BRITAIN'S BIGGEST CARRIER—The crowd waves and cheers as Britain's largest aircraft carrier, the 36,800-ton Ark Royal, slides down the ways at Birkenhead, England. She was sponsored by Queen Elizabeth. A crowd estimated at 50,000 persons watched the launching of the 803-foot-long vessel, designed to carry jet fighters and long-range bombers. Fourth ship of her name in the Royal Navy, replacing a famed namesake sunk by a U-boat in World War II, she will be in service in 1952.

Withholding Tax Ban Urged by McLennan

First Campaign Talk Brands
George 'Corporation Man'

Alex McLennan advocated repeal of the withholding system for collecting Federal income tax as he opened his campaign for the United States Senate here last night.

Hitting at Sen. George as a "representative of big corporations," McLennan said the senior Senator has provided a tax-evasion loophole through which big oil corporations are saving billions of dollars each year at the expense of the wage-earning taxpayers.

The 44-year-old Atlanta attorney and World War II veteran, who caused consternation among Tammany leaders when he resigned from the Governor's Chief of Staff to run against George, spoke over Radio Station WSB. He has not yet disclosed his plans for a stump campaign.

A vicious speaker when he ripped into Governor Talmadge's enemies in 1948, McLennan approached the 72-year-old Sen. George in a polite manner, while hitting sharply at George's actions.

Said McLennan: "I wish to state that I do not now and will not later charge or intimate that Mr. Walter F. George is not a morally and intellectually honest man so far as I know. Mr. George is a Christian gentleman, and I, of course, shall treat him accordingly. I know Mr. George will—and I hope that his friends will—refrain from dealing in personalities and engaging mud in this campaign."

The candidate said the fact that George isn't coming home to campaign shows he didn't want to offer for re-election this year. McLennan claimed George's friends forced him to run again "because of the help he has given them in the past and the help they expect from him in the future presiding over the Senate Finance Committee."

Financial interests of Atlanta and New York elected George over the late Justice Richard B. Russell, Sr., in 1926, and a half-million dollars was spent to keep him in the Senate in 1938 when the late Eugene Talmadge and the late Lawrence Camp opposed George, the candidate contended. He added that Talmadge and Camp were unable to get a vote recount.

"Mr. George has never been the exponent or a believer in the democratic principles laid down by Andrew Jackson," the candidate asserted. "When Mr. George came along in 1922, the bankers and vested interests controlled American politics. Mr. George is a conservative of the old school and his time has been taken up with looking after vested interests."

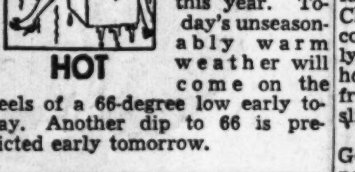

McLennan said Senate passage of a bill providing George with a $600 monthly pension while the average Georgia aged person gets only $23 a month is typical of the Senator's thinking. There is no justice in a government providing $600 pension for one class and $23 for a poorer class of elderly people, he declared.

He quoted George as telling the

Hottest Day Since Fall Due

Georgia today is in for its hottest weather since last September. Partly cloudy skies will hang over the State as the mercury in Atlanta surges to 87 degrees—higher than yesterday's top reading, which was the highest so far this year.

Today's unseasonably warm weather will come on the heels of a 66-degree low early today. Another dip to 66 is predicted early tomorrow.

Drive On To Close Sewers

Child's Fall Spurs
County to Act

A movement to place bars in front of hundreds of dangerous catch basins in the county has grown from The Constitution's story about the seven-foot fall of Robert Vail, three, through a yawning sewer opening on Glenwood Drive, N. E.

The boy was admitted to Henrietta Eggleston Hospital Wednesday with a fractured skull and other injuries after being rescued by an unidentified truck driver. He is the son of Prof. and Mrs. John R. Vail, of 2410 Glenwood Dr., N. E.

A majority of County Commissioners yesterday declared they would get behind a survey to locate all dangerous basin openings in the county and immediately take whatever steps are necessary to protect the children's safety.

Public works officials estimated there were hundreds of the old-fashioned large opening basins located throughout the county, despite the progress already made to place iron bars on those called to their attention.

This measure was ordered shortly after the tragic death of Kathy Fiscus in California when she fell into a large pipe about a year ago.

Fulton County's dangerous basins were installed years ago by convict labor. New basins, being installed now, have much lower openings. Repairs to correct the old basins previously awaited the filing of a complaint with the Public Works Department, officials said. However, Vail, a professor at Georgia Tech, said he had complained numerous times about dangerous catch basins and broken curbs on Ferriss Dr., near his home.

Public Works officials recalled having received at least one complaint from Prof. Vail a few weeks ago when Wimberly Cagle, six, fell through a broken storm sewer culvert. This culvert has been repaired.

They stated they forwarded the complaint to Bellwood Camp for attention of repair and maintenance crews. Clerk there thought the crews were pretty well abreast of the complaints received.

The Commissioners contacted on the survey were Jack Towns, Chairman James H. Aldridge and Thomas L. Camp.

Local, Through Bus Travel Crippled By 'Wildcat' Greyhound Walkout

By MARJORY SMITH

An unexpected "wildcat" strike by Southeastern Greyhound bus drivers, halting South-eastern bus travel operations from Nashville to Jacksonville, Fla., last night shows little indication of early settlement.

The drivers walked out early yesterday. Bus service between Marietta and Atlanta is "seriously crippled," according to Atlanta Terminal Manager Paul Fellows. He said two lines, Smoky Mountain Trailways (Atlanta-Asheville via Marietta) and Tennessee Coach Company (Atlanta to Knoxville via Marietta), are taking care of some Marietta-bound passengers. Suburban Coach Lines also operates between Atlanta and Marietta.

Southeastern, however, operated some 50 schedules daily over the two Marietta highways, Fellows pointed out, and the two other lines are not sufficient to take care of regular passengers.

The unannounced work stoppage has bus travelers here "taking the long way home," but no passengers have been actually stranded at the Atlanta bus terminal, Fellows reported.

Fellows said passengers are being rerouted on 12 other bus lines operating through Atlanta.

AFL union members admitted the walkout was not sanctioned by the parent union, AFL Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees.

Trouble apparently originated in Chattanooga, union headquarters for Atlanta drivers.

In Lexington, Ky., Guy Huguley, President of Southeastern Greyhound, termed the walkout a "wildcat strike." He said he understood the walkout developed from disciplinary cases at Chattanooga, but added, "We don't know much about it yet."

R. H. Whaley, head of the union local at Chattanooga, said, "This

34 GO ON TRIAL IN JUNE

Reds Accused of Taking Mussolini's 'Treasure'

PADUA, Italy — (INS) — Thirty-four persons will be brought to trial in this ancient university city in mid-June to answer Italy's five-year-old multimillion-dollar question: What happened to "Mussolini's lost treasure?"

The defendants, some top-ranking Communists, are accused of having taken the executed dictator's trunkloads of gold, jewels and banknotes—part of the "empire" Mussolini offered to give away in return for his life—in the final, hectic days of Northern Italy's liberation.

The indictment used the word "subtracted" in referring to the fabulous haul.

Some of the group are closely connected with the execution of Mussolini, his mistress, Claretta Petacci, and her brother, Marcello, near Como by a band of Italian Partisans on that fateful day in 1945.

Five specifically are charged with murder of six persons who were said to "know too much" about what happened to the funds of the Fascist government which Mussolini seized before his flight from Rome.

But the Partisan executions are expected to be merely a sidelight of the long-delayed trial which was arranged in the face of Communist threats of reprisal.

They probably will be overshadowed by such questions as the Communist role in the disposition of the fabulous treasure.

A clue to the fate of correspondence between Mussolini, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Pierre Laval, Adolf Hitler and Generalissimo Franco also may pop out at the trial.

The Communists have been blamed for causing the "disappearance" of the five trunks of documents listing the items in Mussolini's treasure convoy. His personal papers were among the documents.

Also woven into the background of the testimony will be the story of the big Communist double-cross by a Partisan who made off with some of the valuables on his own.

And, finally, the dramatic story of the last hours of Mussolini as a refugee dictator will be retold.

The trial was set up only after long delays due to political pigeon-holing tactics and legal red tape.

HEART MESSAGE

Englishman 'Dies Twice'

BIRMINGHAM, England—(UP)—A government doctor ruled yesterday Frank Clemas, 40, died twice.

The ruling followed testimony by Dr. William Rees at a coroner's inquest that Clemas' heart stopped beating while he was under anesthesia. Rees said he slit open the "dead" man's abdomen and massaged the heart. Eighteen minutes later Clemas was alive, he said.

But, he went on, Clemas died three days later, although his reflexes, breathing and circulation had been normal after the operation.

But even now it presents a headache to the government.

Luigi Longo, the No. 2 man in the Italian Communist movement and current commander of the Italian Red "military" formations, is one of those indicted as a possible key to the whole mystery surrounding the "lost treasure," and developments since the Mussolini execution.

Communist Deputy Walter Audisio is another accused of "appropriating" some personal items in the possession of Marcello, specifically, a gold watch and cigarette case.

Audisio is better known as the "Colonel Valerio" who has admitted pumping the fatal machine-gun slugs into the ill-fated trio caught by the Partisans in a bend of the road on their attempted flight to Switzerland.

But neither Longo nor Audisio will be present when the trial opens since both are protected by Parliament immunity.

The Attorney General's office has forwarded to the Chamber of Deputies a request to permit the prosecution of Audisio.

Both men have admitted in public that they used funds seized from the German-Italian armed column, in which Mussolini was traveling, to demolish the Red Partisan formations after the liberation of Italy.

But it has been pointed out that Dante Gorrieri, wartime Partisan commander, was jailed for a year for his part in the disappearance of "several valises" loaded with jewels and currency, seized from the Mussolini convoy. He became

HEROINE SHOWS SNAKEBITTEN WRIST

'KEEP PREMISES CLEAN'

Danger of Snakes Stressed By 3 Cases of Biting Here

At least three persons have been treated at Grady Hospital for snake bites in the past two weeks, and local health authorities yesterday warned against the dangers of snakes during "warm-weather months."

Latest snake bite victim was Mrs. Edna Zvarich, of 1074 Stewart Ave., S. W., who was bitten Wednesday afternoon when she yanked an eight-inch snake out of reach of her two-year-old son, Paul.

A Grady physician said persons bitten by snakes usually were given anti-venom serum to combat the poisoning.

Dr. James F. Hackney, Director of the Atlanta Health Department, said everybody "should have a healthy respect for snakes."

He said the best prevention against attacks by snakes was to keep premises clean.

"Snakes hibernate in the winter," he pointed out, "but they come out about this time of year. If grasses and weeds are cut, the snakes can't hide in City yards. Fortunately, we don't have a great many snakes in Atlanta."

Dr. Roy McGee, Fulton County Health Commissioner, doted Dr. Hackney's warning that yards and grassy lots should be kept free of weeds. He also said hikers should be on the lookout for snakes in low, damp places—especially along streams of water.

Both Dr. Hackney and Dr. McGee said the best advice to the person who actually is bitten is: "Get medical attention right away."

If medical aid is not readily available, Dr. McGee said the snake bite should be opened so that it will bleed freely and the poison can run out. He said the arm or leg should be bound above the wound so that the poison will not flow to other parts of the body.

Seventy-five pounds of gold nuggets and reams of lira valued at one and a half million dollars. A stack of cashiers' checks for $75,000 and 160 gold pounds, taken from Mussolini's person.

Jewels and foreign currency were believed to have been the main contents of the valises seized by "Neri."

Observers regard the forthcoming trial as an indication of the changing times and the waning power of the Communists.

In the past few years, the Communists have aired threats about taking justice into their own hands if an attempt is made to get to the bottom of the Mussolini treasure mystery in the courts.

The Communists have considered such action tantamount to defiling the glory of the Red Partisan effort during the war.

The current indictments do not mention the Mussolini executions.

But now there are jurists in Italy who believe that one day Audisio may have to stand trial for the slaying of Claretta Petacci, because of the changing Communist tide in the country.

Reds Ease Curbs On Berlin Freight

BERLIN—(AP)—British officials said last night Russian zone restrictions on railway freight loadings in West Berlin had been eased and might be completely lifted by today.

West Berlin shippers began loading their goods on freight cars in Western Allied sectors yesterday afternoon, as word spread the problem had been threshed out in East-West talks.

The Soviet-sponsored order, which went into force Wednesday, required that West Berlin freight be trucked across town to the Soviet sector for customs inspection before being put aboard trains for Western Germany, which have to cross about 100 miles of Soviet zone territory.

No Liquor License Applicant Refused

No one applying for a 1950 license to operate a wholesale or retail liquor establishment was refused a license, B. I. Gilbert, director of the State Alcohol Unit, reports.

"While we refused no licenses, several were held up as long as four months until the operator had complied with all Revenue Department regulations," Gilbert added.

The director said the unit investigated applicants for 970 retail and 320 wholesale liquor licenses before issuing the permits.

FAKIR, IN COFFIN WITH 100 SNAKES, STARTS TRY AT NEW FASTING RECORD

LILLE, France—(UP)—Indian Fakir Merinhdrah Burman sealed himself in a glass coffin yesterday along with 100 poisonous snakes, settling down half-naked on a bed of jagged glass, and began an attempt to break the world record for fasting.

"I am convinced that by the Jogh methods of reducing the heart beat, I can stay without food for 1,083 hours, or about six weeks," he said.

The present record is 1,042 hours, set by an Englishman, Ralph Worms.

He said he would exist on two or three pints of salt water a day, piped through a special tube, and on five packs of French cigarettes.

Charge Lawson Closing To Leave 150 Bedless

Veteran Groups Here Demand Retention Pending New Space

Veterans' groups opposing shutdown of Lawson Veterans' Administration Hospital here charges a series of hospital changes announced by the VA in Washington will "leave 150 Georgia veteran patients without beds."

George Hearn, of Monroe, State American Legion Commander, said Georgia Legionnaires will "insist on retention of Lawson until adequate beds can be provided elsewhere."

Other organizations, including the Atlanta Chapter of Disabled Veterans of America, following protest meetings here last night, reported they will wage a stiff fight against closing of Lawson.

The White House and the VA announced the VA will take over Oliver General Hospital in Augusta May 30, close Lawson by Jan. 1, and cancel plans for a new 500-bed VA hospital on Briarcliffe Road.

Hospital 48 on Peachtree Road here, now used exclusively for tuberculosis patients, will become a general medical hospital, with its 225 tuberculosis patients transferred to Oliver, the Washington announcement said.

Emory University School of Medicine professors had worked in close connection with Lawson, but Dr. Hugh Wood Dean of the School of Medicine, expressed doubt that the co-operative program would be carried on at Hospital 48.

Dr. Wood said Emory was "taking a neutral stand" on VA plans. He added, "If the veterans' hospital program can be carried out somewhere else, save taxpayers' money, we have no quarrel with it."

Dr. Lombardy Kelly, head of the University of Georgia's Georgia School of Medicine in Augusta, said he "hoped the VA would have the same training agreement with the University at Oliver General Hospital as the Army did."

CANCER VICTIM INSPECTS FACE RESTORATION PLASTIC FOOLS FRIEND

Cancer Victim Given 'New' Face at Lawson

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Eli Barkett, 24-year-old cancer victim, is getting a new face made to order.

The face of resilient plastic will replace that part of his own face which cancer destroyed.

When Barkett, a World War II veteran, was trying on his plastic face, a fellow patient at Lawson VA Hospital suddenly cried out:

"Great guns, Eli, it can't be!"

Barkett hurriedly and worriedly asked what was the matter. The wide-eyed patient, still staring unbelievably, replied:

"I swear, Eli, I saw your left eye move!"

Barkett's left eye also is plastic. But it, like the rest of the plastic restoration, is fantastically lifelike.

R. L. Tarrantino, restoration technician at Lawson, said he made the plastic face as realistic as possible. He carefully fashioned eyelashes, an eyebrow and even a beard.

Barkett, a resident of Palatka, Fla., is visiting his brother, Thomas J. Barkett, 1752 West Wesley Rd., N. W., while the "finishing touches" are being put on his face.

He gladly shares the story of his five-year fight against cancer "because I want to do anything I can to make the public aware of the danger signals."

When the first sign of cancer appeared to Barkett, he was nonchalantly brushing his teeth in the Philippine Islands.

"I felt a little knot on my upper gum," he recalled, "but I didn't do anything about it."

When he returned to this country in December, 1945, the hard lump in Barkett's mouth was examined by Navy doctors. He was transferred to Brooklyn Naval Hospital, where the lump was diagnosed as non-malignant bone tumor and removed.

"I didn't even know what malignant meant then," he pointed out.

Since then, however, Barkett has had a dozen operations on his face. Each time, surgeons removed a little more tissue until his eye and the side of his face were gone.

Barkett has been at Lawson "off and on" since January, 1947. He has nothing but high praise for the treatment he received there.

"I told the doctors to do whatever was necessary," he said. "My only request was to leave me so I could eat, talk and smoke. They did."

Barkett said he found not only excellent care, but a wife at Lawson. A year ago, he married one of the nurses who had attended him — pretty, dark-haired June Shroy.

Giving his whole-hearted endorsement to the current drive of the Georgia Division, American Cancer Society, which has a goal of $100,000, Barkett had a warning for the public:

"See a doctor, a good doctor, at the first sign of possible cancer. Don't be afraid to see him. He won't give you cancer, but he might save your life."

VENICE, Italy.—(UP)—Five hundred Venetian gondoliers called off a 48-hour strike yesterday after the Municipal Council granted their demand to slow down the operation of fast motorboats on the Grand Canal and Lagoon.

FEPC Forces Fear Dixie Filibuster

WASHINGTON.—(UP)—Senate Administration forces admitted yesterday it is "doubtful" if they can gag a Dixie filibuster against Fair Employment Practices legislation.

A highly-placed source made the statement after Southern Democratic Senators announced they are "ready to go" in a finish fight against President Truman's key Civil Rights measure.

The Southern group was close-mouthed about its filibuster plans after a strategy meeting with Sen. Richard B. Russell, Democrat, Georgia, leader of the anti-Civil Rights forces.

But Russell indicated his bloc may make its first attack on grounds that the Labor Committee sent the FEPC bill to the floor last year without hearings and without recommendations.

The opening round of the party-splitting fight will begin today. Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas plans to move to take up the FEPC bill when the Senate finishes work on the European Aid Program.

The Southerners may formally launch their filibuster at once, but little actual debate is expected before Monday.

U. S. Unprepared For Bomb Attack, Durham Says

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Pharmacists were told yesterday the United States is medically unprepared for a major atomic bomb attack.

Rep. Carl T. Durham, Democrat, North Carolina, Vice Chairman of the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said in an address to the annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

"Careful studies of our nation's health resources have indicated that in the event of a major (atom bomb) attack, there would be inadequate numbers of all types of skilled personnel, there would be several shortages of health supplies, and there would be a serious shortages of hospital facilities."

Durham said the nation "urgently needs a soundly conceived civil defense program" because one atom bomb can severely burn 40,000 to 50,000 persons.

Teacher Dies, Trapped by Fire

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—Trapped in her smoke-filled room, a retired schoolteacher died early yesterday after screaming to helpless neighbors, "I can't get out."

Dist. Fire Chief John Galway burned his left arm as he led a crew that broke through a wall of flames to reach the burning upstairs apartment.

Police identified the 68-year-old teacher as Miss Ethel Rhodes. She resided alone in her apartment in Algiers, across the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

Hospital Plans

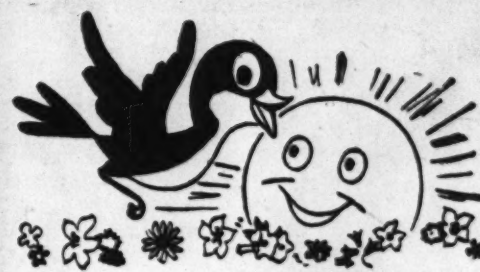

AMERICUS.—Construction of a million-dollar hospital, financed by the city, County, State and Federal governments, is expected to start early in July or within 30 days after bids have been opened and approved on June 5. The site for the new hospital is the Wheatley property on East Forsyth Street, consisting of approximately 12 acres, purchased from Charles Wheatley.

Doctor Better, Debtors Not

Dr. R. H. Bramlett, Forsyth County country doctor whose patients owe him more than $20,000, was reported "doing nicely" last night after a serious operation at Crawford Long Hospital. But his wife said there still was no response to his appeal to patients to pay him their overdue bills.

"Please don't disappoint me, my friends," the doctor had said in an ad in the Forsyth County News, "for I love every one of you."

Students Raid Coeds' Rooms

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—(UP)—Five Ohio State University men students were suspended yesterday after a pre-dawn party of about 200 men raided women's dormitories and sororities.

University officials said the mob of men put some women students under showers.

The Council of Student Affairs said none of the five would be permitted to attend classes until the next meeting of Student Court hears their cases. Names of the five were withheld.

Teacher Cleared In Fondle Case

EUFULA, Okla.—(AP)—A district court jury yesterday took just 43 minutes to clear Teacher W. E. Dickey of a charge that he fondled an 11-year-old girl pupil under her dress.

Dickey, wiping his forehead nervously, had taken the stand briefly before to deny the accusation.

Mrs. Dickey, who teaches with him, burst into tears and embraced her husband.

Several students, many of whom had testified in Dickey's behalf, rushed to their schoolmaster and patted him on the back.

A lesser charge that he frequently popped the panties of his girl students still faces Dickey in county court.

Thompson Promises $140-Million Saving

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Staff Writer

SYLVANIA—Campaigning in home territory last night, M. E. Thompson told the people of his native Screven County that the re-election of Gov. Talmadge would cost the taxpayers of Georgia $140,000,000.

Thompson arrived at this figure by declaring he could finance expanded State services on 140 million dollars annual revenue.

This, he said, is 35 million dollars less than the 175 million dollars a year revenue Talmadge is expected to call for.

The former Acting Governor then multiplied this 35-million-dollar-a-year figure by the four years of the Governor's term and came up with the 140 million dollars he said he could save taxpayers if they elected him chief executive.

"If the incumbent Governor is worth 140 million dollars more than M. E. Thompson, then vote for him on June 28," Thompson said. "But if you want the same services with M. E. Thompson as Governor, then vote for me."

Rep. Elliott Hagan, anti-Talmadge leader and one-time gubernatorial possibility who is unopposed for the State Senate from this district, welcomed Thompson to Sylvania on behalf of Mayor Willard Lariscy. About 300 persons gathered around the courthouse square to hear Thompson's address.

Today Thompson moves to Sardis, Waynesboro and Midville in Burke County and finishes the day at Millen in Jenkins County, where he was re-elected.

At Pembroke in Bryan County, which went for Talmadge two years ago, and at Newington in Screven County, Thompson repeated charges of extravagance and broken promises against the present Governor.

Waging an uphill fight like a man who knows the odds are against him but believes he has a chance to win, Thompson is campaigning vigorously. He obviously is trying to smoke Gov. Talmadge out into the open on the sales tax issue, and is trying to capitalize on what he believes is a trend of old-line followers of the late Eugene Talmadge to turn away from the present Governor.

The former Acting Governor already has made 16 speeches this week, and has had to compete in many instances against highway traffic, the noises of passing trains, and small audiences which listen intently but show little enthusiasm. In the middle of his noonday speech at Pembroke he was interrupted by a loud siren which signals noon every day.

Mayor F. O. Miller, the fourth mayor to introduce Thompson this week, presented him to an audience of less than 100 in Pembroke, which is traditionally Talmadge territory.

A county official at Pembroke, who said he supported Thompson in 1949, told a Constitution reporter that many former Talmadge supporters are turning toward Thompson, but he predicted the trend would not be strong enough to take Bryan County away from the Governor.

As in other Southeast Georgia counties covered by Thompson in this opening week of campaigning, most observers said there has been little talk of politics and little interest in the gubernatorial race as yet.

Thompson cancelled his scheduled appearance at Claxton in Evans County yesterday because of the funeral of Mrs. B. E. Brown, Sr., of Claxton. Instead of speaking he went around the town, shaking hands with more than 100 voters.

Alabama Regular Democrats Oust Dixiecrats From Helm

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(AP)—Regular Democrats last night apparently had regained control of party machinery in Alabama.

Late returns from Tuesday's bitter primary fight gave those loyal to the national party a clear majority of the 72 places on the State Democratic Committee.

Dewey Blasts Fair Deal as 'Faro Deal'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey blasted the Democrats last night as the real "big money" party and accused them of tolerating spies, traitors and sex offenders in the Government service.

In one of the sharpest attacks on the Administration he has ever made, Dewey charged the Democrats with levying tribute from union treasuries and declared they "shake down wealthy playboys for Government jobs."

The 1948 GOP presidential candidate's speech was prepared for a Republican State Committee dinner described as the largest political dinner ever held in New York State.

Dewey linked "Kansas City gunmen" with national Administration politics and asserted: "The Fair Deal is a faro deal for New York State. The people get trimmed every day."

Giving no hint as to whether he will seek re-election as Governor next Fall, Dewey vigorously defended his eight-year administration and claimed credit for social welfare advances which he said the Democrats never carry beyond the stage of talking.

Talmadge 'Cade Leaves Tomorrow

A motorcade will leave Atlanta at 9 a. m. tomorrow to attend Gov. Talmadge's opening campaign speech in Albany at 4 p. m.

Talmadge campaign headquarters said 75 motorcades are expected to converge on Albany. Spokesmen claimed that "the biggest meal ever served in Georgia" is being prepared as a barbecue for the crowd.

The Atlanta motorcade will leave from Stewart Avenue and Dill Street.

Taylor Not Invited On Trip, Truman Says

Denies Pepper Defeat
Rebuke to 'Fair Deal'

WASHINGTON—(UP)—President Truman said yesterday he certainly did not invite Sen. Glen Taylor, Democrat, Idaho, who strummed his guitar for Henry Wallace's Progressive Party in 1948, to accompany him on a forthcoming train trip through Idaho.

Taylor was Wallace's vice presidential running mate on the Progressive ticket. He rejoined the Democrats after Wallace's poor showing and now is running for re-election on the Administration program. Taylor said Mr. Truman's statement closed the matter.

The President also said he does not consider the Florida primary election defeat of Sen. Pepper, an Administration stalwart, to be a rebuke for his programs. He said the issue was local in scope and did not indicate any national trends.

Rep. Smathers, whose victory over Pepper amounts to election, backed the President by warning Republican leaders not to draw any hope from the outcome. He said the bitter primary fight was purely a Democratic family matter.

While the race showed Florida voters shy away from "extremism or dangerous experimentation," Smathers said, neither do they want "isolationism or the do-nothing attitude of the Republican Party."

He made the statement in a letter to GOP National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson who

Atlantic To Stage 2-Day Steel Show

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT

The Atlantic Steel Company, one of the South's great industries, will stage an Open House and a Southern Agricultural Implement Show today and tomorrow at its plant at Sixteenth and Meehan Streets, N. W.

For this occasion, 35 agricultural implement manufacturers, located in 33 cities of seven Southern States, have put on display some of their goods. All these manufacturers buy their steel, or some of their parts, from Atlantic.

Through the agricultural implement industry, Atlantic Steel hopes to pioneer the way for the establishment of a great metal-working industry in the South. On this point, R. S. Lynch, President of the company, yesterday, said: "I see the real future of the industrial South in small plants, scattered throughout the section and contributing substantial pay rolls to each of many villages, towns and cities. The exhibition of farm machinery and implements you see here is living proof of that. It only needs to be supported by Southern capital, modern machinery and the development of technical skill in our people. Then we will see unfolding the metal-working industry which will efficiently and profitably expand an agricultural economy and will take the place in the future so notably held by King Cotton in the past."

The Implement Show is housed in one of the historic 1895 Cotton States Exposition Buildings. This building is now located in the heart of Atlantic Steel's manufacturing operations. Here, the public will see many of the prime agricultural implements manufactured by Southern firms, all using Dixie-steel, the brand name for the products of Atlantic Steel Company. In this way, Lynch predicts, the agricultural equipment industry will do for the steel industry in the South what the automobile industry has done for the steel industry in the Midwest.

Atlantic Steel Company is an Atlanta company with more than 800 stockholders, most of whom live in this area. It was organized in 1901 for the production of cotton ties. With the evolution of the business it now manufactures 55 different products, including nails and all kinds of wire.

Thomas K. Glenn, for many years Georgia's leading banker, was for 14 years President of Atlantic Steel Company. Another Atlantic Steel man is T. M. Girdler, for eight years general superintendent of the Atlantic Steel plant and now Chairman of the Board of the Republic Steel Company, the third largest in the steel industry. Still another is Robert Gregg, for 10 years President of Atlantic Steel and now President of Tennessee Coal & Iron, of Birmingham.

The implement show will be open today to the public and to the customers of Atlantic Steel and the customers of the exhibiting implement manufacturers. Tomorrow it will be open for the families of the 2,000 employees of Atlantic Steel Company.

Works Dept. Reverses On Merit Plan

Fulton County's public works employees apparently have changed their minds about coming under civil service, after all.

A new petition signed by 235 in the Public Works Department was filed yesterday with Mrs. Ruth Knight, Civil Service Secretary, asking to remain aloof from the County's merit system.

It heavily outweighs numerically a petition filed a month ago with Mrs. Knight in which 202 employees asked for civil service recognition. Under the civil service law a department automatically comes under civil service upon petition of a majority of its personnel.

The once politically influential Department employs 379 regular workers and about 30 temporary laborers at present. The Civil Service Board was informed the temporary laborers should have been considered in the balloting and in the total of employees.

Under this interpretation, the first petition lacked eight names of being a majority. The two petitions reportedly contain a duplication of some 32 names, indicating these persons have reconsidered the matter.

The new petition states the employees do not understand how civil service can benefit them, and that a number of persons had been "misled" in the signing of the first petition.

The three-man Civil Service Board will likely consider the turn during a meeting slated at 10:30 a. m. today in the courthouse.

The petition was first presented Wednesday to the Fulton County Commissioners, who stated they had no authority in the matter and referred it to the Civil Service Board.

Virginia Elects Former Atlantan

Edward J. Robeson, Jr., formerly of Atlanta, now of Newport News, Va., was elected Tuesday to fill an unexpired term in Congress for the Newport News District, according to information received here yesterday.

Robeson, a graduate of the University of Georgia, went to Newport News during World War I to become Director of Personnel for the Newport News Shipbuilding Company. After the war, he remained there and has since engaged in the practice of law.

In Atlanta, he is an active member of the University of Georgia Alumni Association.

"When they asked us questions," he added, "there was always a man behind us with a gun at his hip."

Union drivers said some of the accused men were asked to resign, while others were suspended. He said the company's accusations were "an attempt to weaken our union." Huguelet denied that coercion was used.

Drivers on all lines radiating out of Chattanooga walked out in sympathy with accused drivers, but the Chattanooga spokesman insisted: "Union officials had nothing to do with this walkout. This is something bigger than the union."

Huguelet said an estimated 700 to 800 drivers from Nashville to Atlanta were absent from work. He said "probably two-thirds to three-fourths of our service" had been affected, along with 2,000 company employees in five States.

"There is no question of wages involved," Huguelet declared, terming the walkout "a clear-cut violation of the union contract, which doesn't expire until Decem-

HE SPEAKS—WHISTLES, TOO

Police note with interest the increase in hot-weather complaints.

For instance, a 17-year-old housewife reported an incident the day occurred yesterday as she was en route to a grocery store in northwest Atlanta.

A neighbor, bent on trimming his hedge, spoke neighborly. In fact, the young housewife said, he whistled, too.

Then she noticed he was wearing only a shirt.

Suitor, Angered By Rival's Car, Kills Girl, 15

COLUMBIANA, Ala.—(UP)—A "crazy jealous" suitor, who could not match the new car driven by his rival, was charged yesterday with murder in the rifle slaying of his 15-year-old junior high school sweetheart.

Fred Wells, 20, freely admitted that he fired the shots which killed Bobbie Jean Brewer, eighth grade student and seriously wounded Roderick "Buck" Salser, 23-year-old Bessemer ironworker.

Wells, who claimed Bobbie Jean "promised to marry me about a month ago," said he fired from the street when he saw the pair kissing goodnight on Bobbie Jean's doorstep.

The young slayer surrendered to Jefferson County authorities in Birmingham shortly after shooting the couple with a .22 caliber rifle. He was turned over to Shelby County Sheriff E. L. Bozeman and jailed here.

Wells was resentful of Salser's new 1950 Ford car. He said he always "had to walk more than a mile just to see Bobbie Jean," and added bitterly that "Buck tried to take her away from me by sporting a big, new car."

Marietta Police Captain Cleared of Bribe Charge

By PAUL THOMPSON

MARIETTA—City Council has dismissed charges by a city policeman that one of his superior officers joined Cobb County police in accepting bribes to protect bootleggers.

Patrolman Hubert Rogers, who described himself as an undercover agent of the Cobb Temperance League, said he has investigated Capt. Dorsey Matlock, Night Chief, for the last three months because he believed it his Christian duty to do so.

But evidence mustered by the patrolman was discounted as "wholly circumstantial" at a three-hour hearing conducted by City Council's Police Committee. Capt. Matlock was ruled innocent of taking graft and told to go back to work. He had resigned voluntarily last Saturday pending outcome of the case against him.

Matlock and Patrolman Ford Dixon admitted, however, that they received $33 each from Jesse Lee Brown, of 320 Goss St., much-convicted Negro bootlegger. The money, they said, was "a gift" presented a week after they took the Negro into custody on a liquor charge.

A former city policeman, Forrest Brooks, also was charged with accepting $33 of Brown's money which allegedly was handed to Matlock by the Negro a few days before Christmas last year. Matlock was accused of splitting $99 with the other two officers.

Councilman Claud Hicks, committee chairman, severely reprimanded Matlock and Dixon before ordering the charges dismissed. He told both officers instant dismissal would follow acceptance of any further "tokens of good will" from citizens.

In a fast-talking 45-minute defense, Matlock told the committee he has never been "a taker," and believed the accusations against him were inspired by the bootleggers themselves.

Faith in the Old War Horse

IN FLIGHT TO OMAHA—Yesterday the great winds that roared over Texas and Oklahoma had churned the weather over the central U. S. into a potter of rain and cloud. Flying was a risky business and the old bomber that was to take us west stayed on the ground, slow rain beating a soft tattoo on its metal skin. This morning at Bolling Field rain still fell, but to the west the skies were brightening. The ticklish takeoff from Washington's Bolling Field in thick weather even though we know that the rod or eyes from the ground are watching us and that for a few minutes, at least, the sky is ours, with incoming planes held away, circling while we get clear. You roar down the long runway and the big plane lifts and then you are in a cloud, flying blind, and it is an exciting thing to watch as the pilots lift her, climbing fast, and making, as they climb, a steep turn to the left. That's the turn that brings you clear of the Washington Monument, poking up into the fog ahead and swings you wide of the Capitol buildings. Ten years ago the lawmakers decided they would carry on their deliberations with more ease if they did not have to worry about the possibility of a plane popping a cylinder on takeoff, crashing in upon them. Nobody can blame them for that, but it lifts the hair of the unsuspecting passengers' heads a little when suddenly the left wing drops and the plane makes its sharp swerve. It's a quick turn, though, and soon you level off. From then on you go, straight and level, and beneath you, in scattered clouds, the great tapestry of America begins to flow beneath the wings in a majestic panorama of mountains, rivers, fields and towns.

To the pilots, a long flight is a series of mathematical computations that take them from one radio check point to another. To the man in the passenger seat it is a progress which he can trace best by the westward crossing of the rivers. First the Potomac, broad and slow, and then the thin line of the Shenandoah, after the Shenandoah the Monongahela, the Ohio, the Illinois, the Mississippi, the Des Moines, the Missouri and the Platte. Five generations of Americans lived and died as the slow tide of civilization flowed westward over the mountains and the rivers the plane traverses in five hours.

Any Bets on Congressmen Today?

WASHINGTON—The question before the House today is whether Congressmen are gambling devices and as such should be prohibited from traveling across State lines. If that sounds cockeyed, I can't help it. It is no typographical error. So let us consider the legal difference between a Congressman and a one-armed bandit with the wheels in his head and cherries and lemons on its face.

It turns out first that the U. S. Capitol itself is a small-time and discreet gambling hell. In the Senate Office Building, according to Sen. Charles W. Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire, is a bookmaker who lays bets on the ponies.

And in the House of Representatives, as I saw, the members themselves are gambling devices. But not coin-operated. This information turned up at a session of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which is trying to write a bill outlawing interstate shipments of slot machines. This isn't easy.

The problem is, what is a slot machine? And how does it differ from an amusement device? And for that matter, what is a gambling device? A wrist watch?

Rep. Oren Harris, Democrat, Arkansas, said he could use his watch for a gambling machine by betting on what time he'd get home. And did his fellow statesmen intend to outlaw timepieces? The room full of slot machine moguls, pinball impresarios and legal lights was impressed. Then came Rep. Charles A. Wolverton, the white-haired and courtly Republican from Camden, N. J., with a query.

"The real difficulty seems to be in deciding just what is a game of chance," he said. "I have not entered this discussion before because I know very little personally about such things. But only yesterday it came to my attention that a book is being made on how many Congressmen answer roll calls."

"That would seem to turn the Congressmen themselves into a gambling device."

And what are we going to do about them? Outlaw 'em as the Capitol gamblers?

Effects of Pepper's Defeat

WASHINGTON—Perhaps the major immediate effect nationally of Sen. Claude Pepper's defeat in the Florida Democratic primary will be to open up hitherto buttoned-up big Republican checkbooks for contributions to the Republican congressional campaign. Because Sen. Pepper had come to be such a symbol of New Dealism and Fair Dealism, his unseating is the best news that Republicans have had since they read the returns of the 1946 elections when they recaptured Congress for a brief two-year interval in a long dry spell. It was not surprising, therefore, that Republican National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson was the first to speak up, and even before the returns were all in. He chirped up just as gleefully as if a real Republican had won a major victory, instead of a Democrat, who, however, attacked enough of the Truman program to qualify among Republicans as a happy symbol. Rep. George Smathers, the victor, had support from Florida Republicans, of whom there are a good many, as well as powerful financial interests which are Republicans, politically.

Mr. Gabrielson, you may be sure, will be quick to pass the hat, holding the Florida returns in his other hand as his exhibit.

Another effect of the Pepper defeat also—and likewise a major one—is expected to be increased emphasis on what is known as the "Red issue," which was exploited against Sen. Pepper by Rep. Smathers. The latter accused his opponent of sympathy with Russia and Communist causes. Chairman Gabrielson, himself, has been using it loosely and recklessly in recent speeches with charges of Communists in the Truman Administration, naming no one, of course. He, unlike Sen. Joe McCarthy, Republican, Wisconsin, has no congressional immunity. Rep. Smathers' success offers Republicans a sample and a text, for which Sen. McCarthy already is providing a national sounding board and seemingly has stirred a national issue, at least temporarily.

In the smoke screen of confusion that is being raised the progressive political force of the nation will unquestionably find themselves on

GEORGIA EDITORS SAY:

Re-elect Senator George

(Greensboro Herald-Journal)

The last-minute announcement of Alex McLennan as a candidate for the U. S. Senate against Sen. Walter F. George is regretted. Insofar as this action, taken by McLennan without the knowledge or consent of Gov. Talmadge—inasmuch as McLennan was the chief of staff—brings to mind that often quoted truism in politics:

"God protect me from my political friends; I can take care of my enemies."

It is known that certain minority groups in Georgia were scouring the State in an effort to encourage opposition to Sen. George.

Sen. George has served Georgia with honor and distinction for 28 years.

George ranks high in the Senate. Only a few weeks ago, Time magazine selected Sen. George as one of the 10 most influential members of that body.

George will be returned to the Senate with a big vote.

There is no substitute for brains and experience. Sen. George has both.

(Columbus Ledger)

We don't think Sen. George needs worry about the outcome of the primary. He is a Senator from Georgia, yes; but Sen. George is a statesman and an expert on finances and foreign affairs and the entire nation, as well as Georgia, needs him in Washington. His friends down here will take care of his re-election for him.

But the myriad friends of Senator George must not become complacent. We have yet to see if the National Administration takes any hand in the election. Assuredly, President Truman would like to see Senator George "purged" from Congress, and certainly some segments of organized labor are his avowed enemies. We are sure that Senator George may be re-elected without too much difficulty; but we must vote and work for him to see that he is returned to his post.

(Augusta Herald)

To our mind Senator George is one of the few statesmen we have left in Washington. His influence there, built up from his natural ability as a leader of men and his long experience in standing the nation in good stead in these times when perils from within and without are gnawing away at the foundations of our freedom.

Regardless of how good a man might be or how great his ability he could not hope to be of as much benefit to his constituents as Senator George because he could not bring the weight of influence or the wealth of experience to bear that the senior Senator has piled up over the 30 years he has been in office.

Senator George wields great influence in the Capital through the senatorial committees which he heads and on which he is a member. These committee posts are awarded on the basis of seniority and experience.

A new Senator could not hope to attain such prestige for many years and probably never.

(Savannah Morning News)

The announcement by Alex McLennan, 44-year-old Atlanta attorney, recently a member of the State Personnel Board, that he will oppose Sen. Walter F. George for the United States Senate in the Primary June 26, is a regrettable and, we might add, an undesirable procedure from almost any standpoint from which it may be viewed.

When we consider the splendid position of trust and confidence our senior Senator has gained in the Upper House of Congress by virtue of his ability and integrity, and when we consider his sound philosophy on governmental, economic and taxation matters, it is in all reality ridiculous to think that any lesser man who stands on the horizon of public life in Georgia today would consider himself as matching the character and works of this great son of Georgia, much less daring to think that he can excel him.

By these tokens, we believe that our Atlanta friend will deeply regret that he has opposed Georgia's distinguished senior Senator—when the votes have been counted on June 29 next.

(W. D. Tait in Elberton Star) Because the senior Senator has conscientiously stood for

We Keep Our Shirts On

WASHINGTON—Top Pentagon officials say they could retaliate any time for the Baltic plane shooting by sinking a Soviet submarine in U. S. territorial waters. The Soviet makes the Russian firing on the Navy Privateer so senseless, they explain. If we wanted to take a leaf from Soviet pilots, we could do the same thing to one of their submarines—plus.

Navy intelligence officers report that Soviet snorkel subs have bobbed up close to the East Coast in the Atlantic and regularly in the waters off Los Angeles and San Francisco in the Pacific.

Our officials, however, take the position that reconnaissance by foreign subs in peacetime is nothing new. If we wanted to sink every one that comes close, we would be in war in no time.

Another deterrent: We engage in peacetime reconnaissance, too—both by plane and sub.

GUIDED - MISSILE PROJECTS—Behind the scenes, Congress has asked for a crackdown on the Government's guided-missile programs.

Top Defense Department bigwigs are under fire for what is said to be gross duplication, exorbitant waste, and a dangerous slow down in missile-research projects.

What provokes key committee members is the discovery that the Department has spent more than $300,000,000 on missile research and has practically nothing to show for it.

To date, the military has produced but one guided missile—the B-29 drone "banshee"—capable of quick emergency mass production. It is the only one capable of carrying a 10,000-pound bomb load.

The Research and Development Board has been nudged to get on the ball—or else, according to a top committee member.

CARL GRAY MAY QUIT—VA Administrator Carl Gray may quit over the congressional fiasco which restored an unwanted $237,000,000 for 16,000 hospital beds the Veterans Administration cannot use and does not want.

His friends say he has had feelings to go back into active Army service for a temporary tour of duty in Europe, and may take the bid. He is a general in the Reserve.

Gray is just as anxious as some members of the Hoover Government Reorganization Commission to see a little economy in the sprawling veterans setup, his associates report.

The Derby Is More Than a Race

EN ROUTE TO THE DERBY—Sure, it's a long way to go for about two minutes and three or four seconds of horsing around. But when you go to "The Derby" the race itself often becomes a major interest—and a nice one—during 48 to 72 hours of heavy punishment. We know one reporter who has been going to the Derby religiously for 10 years and has yet to see one. The race itself, that is. Can't get out of Joe Stevens' restaurant at the track, after the Derby breakfast. Wouldn't miss the Derby, he says, for the world. For him it is Joe Stevens.

"The Derby" is an all embracing word, and sometimes you wonder just what you've embraced.

IT'S THE TRAIN that takes you there, for instance. Big reunion stuff. "Hello, Mac, haven't seen you since... why, it was on this same train last year! Well, whattayouknow? Me and the Mrs. are having a little party in Drawing Room Z, Car 1313, before dinner. Come on in. And by the way, who do you like?"

It's the plane—like this one—and a fellow named Toots Shor, going to see his pal Bill Corum sweat out the first of his managerial derbies.

For maybe 50 years before this one, the trains and cars and, later, planes that moved on Louisville always carried somebody like Toots...

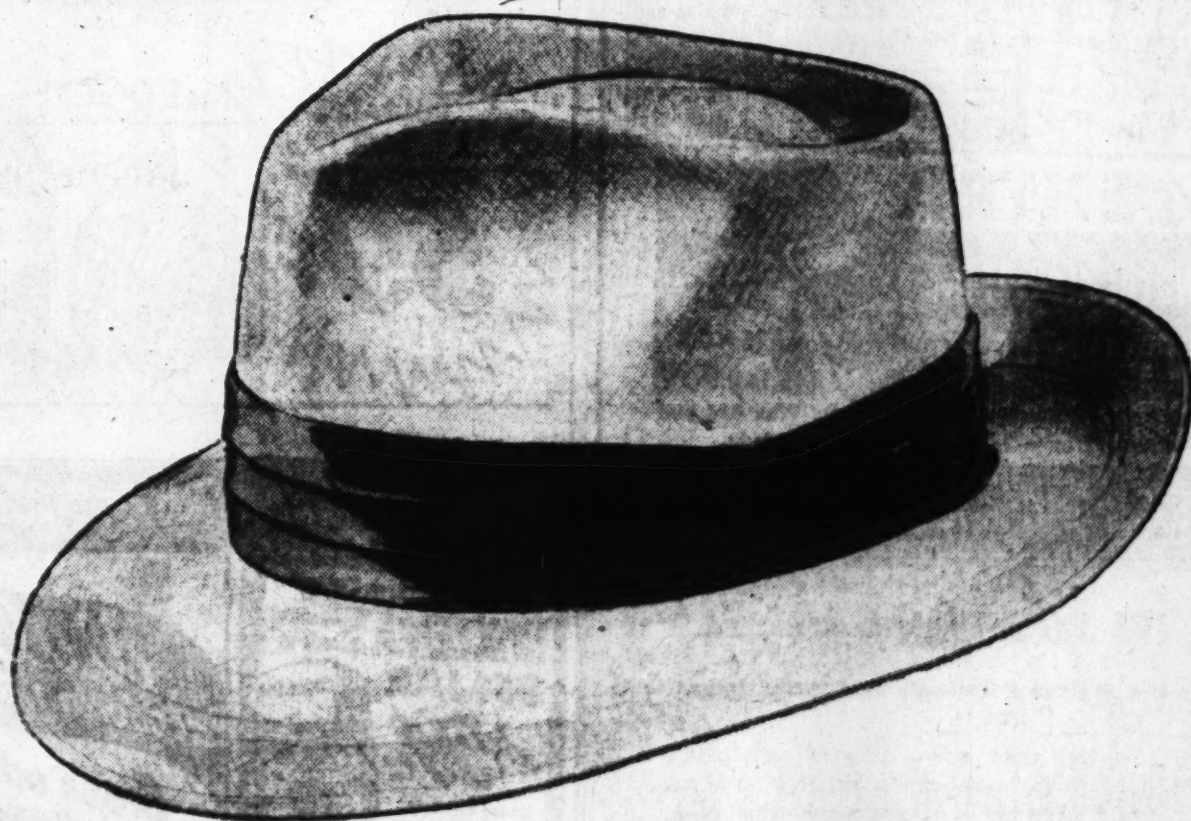

"The Derby" is going to the track 24 hours before the Derby itself, in the hope of amassing a little of "their" money with which to be reckless the next day. Friday has become almost as big a day as Saturday, during the Derby week.

And "The Derby" is the talk of this and that horse. And, later, the anger. Anger of things that seem very trivial after the morning aspirin.

And, best of all, "The Derby" is "My Old Kentucky Home," played when they come out for the big one and strut by. There's nothing quite like it in America, all in all. And I guess there never will be.

MAKING PLAY IN SUNSHINE—Constitution photographer Edna Weston, ably equipped with a speed-graphic camera and a pair of Atlanta-designed "Little Goodie Toy Shoes," picked a sunny Sunday afternoon and Piedmont Park as a likely combination for a fit subject to model the shoes. The first young lady that strolled her way was three-month-old Ginger Wallace, above, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wallace, of 314 Sixth St., N. E. Ginger was easily persuaded to model the shoes and co-operated like a veteran for the strip of pictures you see above. All Mrs. Weston did was stand back and aim her camera to catch Ginger's rapidly changing moods, ranging from a preliminary investigation through to blissful acceptance.

Mrs. Maryvon Joseph Zeig Weds Charles L. Reynolds

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Evans Joseph announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Maryvon Joseph Zeig, to Charles Lawrence Reynolds, son of Mrs. Grace T. Boling and the late R. J. Reynolds, of Atlanta.

The ceremony was quietly solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, with Judge Eugene Gunby officiating. The bride, a lovely blonde, was educated in Paris, France. Mr. Reynolds attended the University of Georgia and is now associated with Beverly Hall, Inc. During the war he served in the Army Air Corps for four and one-half years, with two years of duty in the Pacific. He held the rank of captain. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will reside in an apartment at 55 Lafayette Dr.

BUY-LINES by Nancy Sasser
A Weekly Advertising Column of Things New and Interesting

New York, N. Y., May 5—Good luck lies in odd numbers... so keep all three tempting favors of the one and only, original ROYAL Tapioca Puddings handy: 1. ROYAL Vanilla Tapioca to sing about! 2. ROYAL Chocolate Tapioca to dream about! 3. ROYAL Orange-Coconut Tapioca with a magic tropical flavor! With such a tempting variety, you can serve these richer, smoother, creamier-textured ROYAL Tapioca Puddings often, which is wise... for like all famous ROYAL Puddings, they provide more food energy than the sweet, fresh milk you make them with.

THIS IS BABY WEEK! So let me tell you the best way to keep your baby happy and healthy... not just this week, but in all his growing years to come. Be sure you use CARNATION Evaporated Milk for infant feeding... then you'll know your baby is getting extra advantages that ordinary milk doesn't provide. You see, CARNATION is fortified with the "sunshine" Vitamin D, homogenized and heat-refined for easier digestibility... then sterilized after it's sealed in its can for utmost safety! CARNATION has extra body-building benefits for children of all ages... so use it long after baby's bottle days. For example try it for:

"Creaming" Cereals—Children love the familiar flavor of undiluted CARNATION.
Cup Drinking, Cakes or Cookies—When diluted 50-50 with water, CARNATION exceeds your state standard for Grade A Milk.

YOU MIGHT FIND A NEEDLE IN A HAYSTACK, but you'll never find anything to match the new 1950 FRIGIDAIRE "Thrifty-30" Electric Range! It's the biggest little range in the world... with a GIANT oven that stretches clear across the range! Has a new, faster-cooking, 5-Speed Radiant Tube Units, new counter-balanced shelf-type door, High-Speed, Waist-High Broiler. Yet this new Frigidaire "Thrifty-30" Electric Range is just 30 inches wide to "fit" small kitchens—costs only $189.75 in most localities. So be sure to see it soon at your local FRIGIDAIRE Dealer.

I'M NOT TALKING THROUGH MY NEW SPRING BONNET when I say CAVALLIER is a "smoker's" dream come true. Men and women alike agree with me, more transparent waxed paper... for besides being better than most, it comes in this whiter, healthier, more translucent waxed paper... the better waxed paper costs no more than ordinary brands... so remember the name WAXTEK when shopping for waxed paper!

GOT YOUR SPRING HOUSE-CLEANING DONE? How about adding one final touch that's easy and inexpensive, yet adds so much to the brightness and sparkle of every home? I'm thinking of lamp bulbs... GENERAL Electric bulbs... the right wattage. (Almost every house has empty lamp sockets or fixtures with wrong-sized bulbs.) See your G-E lamp dealer next time you shop. He's featuring "Brighten-Up Time" right now, with all the bulbs you need. Buy them four at a time in the handy GENERAL ELECTRIC four-lamp package. Buy an armful, so you'll always have spares on hand!

WORTH CROWING ABOUT... these light, luscious Sweet Potato Balls. But that's only natural... for they're made with ALLSWEET, the margarine with the delicate NATURAL flavor that "wakes up" even the "laziest" appetites. And lucky you, if you live in the District of Columbia or one of the 33 states which permits the sale of yellow margarine... for then you can get ALLSWEET in golden yellow tubs, prints. But, of course, you can get colored ALLSWEET everywhere in the regular cartons... just be sure you ask for ALLSWEET and try these Sweet Potato Balls today. Here's how:

Add 3 tbsp. melted ALLSWEET to 2 cups mashed sweet potatoes. Mix. Add salt and pepper to taste. Shape into 1½-inch balls. Roll in crushed cornflakes crumbs or chopped nuts. Place on baking sheet; bake in mod. oven (350°F.) about 20 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

And before you substitute another margarine for ALLSWEET in this recipe, let me urge you to make the revealing ALLSWEET "T" test... taste 'n' tell. Just taste ALLSWEET's delicate NATURAL flavor and any other margarine... then tell the difference. Convinced? I know you are... so use ALLSWEET for all your cooking, baking and on the table.

OH GOODIE, TOY SHOES

Boon to Baby Trade From Atlanta Designer

By MAYNITA GERRY
Constitution Fashion Editor

Every time a baby opens his mouth he puts his foot in it. Sounds monotonous, doesn't it? Well, as a matter of fact, Mungin Brumby was feeling pretty bored with the whole proceedings when he approached his mother, Mrs. J. R. Brumby, in no uncertain terms, about it.

"Glub," he announced succinctly to her one morning as she bent over this crib, straightening the sheets, plumping up his pillow and putting him happily around, full of typical motherly gestures. Since her only response was to smile sweetly, pat his nether region and drop a butterfly kiss on his left eyebrow in departing, young Mungin dispensed with formalities and let go with a lusty yell, which served, as he knew it would, to bring his mother scampering right back into his side.

At that, he settled back comfortably and proceeded with a few well-chosen gurgles and gestures to get a perplexing problem off his chest.

"What," he wanted to know, "could a guy expect from a gal who bathed him, fed him and changed his diapers, who dwelled him on her knee, cooed over him and bragged about him, then left him for hours on 'end' with nothing to entertain him but a crumb of toys and two little old bitty feet."

"Actually," he pointed out, attempting to be generous, "it wasn't too bad in the beginning. Feet were pretty interesting things when you first discovered them. You could wave them in the air, you could stick them in your mouth, why, you could even make strange, weird noises with them if you placed them just right against the roof of your mouth."

In fact, he admitted, not without cooing, feet are practically indispensable for kicking foreign matter out of the crib.

But, gosh, a guy could get awfully fed up on feet after about three weeks. Now, he reasoned, mixing flattery with logic, if a mother were really the smart cookie she led daddy and the rest of the household to believe, she'd be busy thinking up some sort of, say, shoe with perhaps a toy attached to the toe, something a fellow could play with as he lay quietly minding his own business. Frankly, he assured her, such an invention would do more toward changing the sound effects from the nursery than anything he'd thought up in weeks.

This was a challenge that no mother, in her right mind, could afford to pass up.

As Augusta King Brumby tells it she sat down and dashed off a few rough sketches of a shoe with various types of doll heads attached. When she arrived at what she thought was a good working model, she made up a pair from a piece of old wool,

Miss Phillips Is Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Phillips announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Patsy Juanita Phillips, to Lloyd Curtis Burel, son of Mrs. E. C. Burel and the late Mr. Burel. The wedding will take place at Moreland Avenue Baptist Church, June 9.

The bride-elect's mother is the former Miss Isie Power. Miss Phillips graduated from Murphy High School. She is a Past advisor of the Grant Park Rainbow Assembly and holds the degree of the Grand Cross of Color. At the present she is associated with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The groom-elect's mother is the former Miss Myra Wood. Mr. Burel was graduated from Tech High School. He is now associated with Rybert Printing Company.

"Little Goodie Toy Shoes" are available in Atlanta at Davidson's. They come in one size ($2.99 for felt and $2.50 for corduroy), that is flexible enough through adjustable straps, to include the age at which babies start playing with their feet, up to around one year of age.

"Babies," according to Mrs. Brumby, "generally begin playing with their feet around four months, reaching the height of this activity about the sixth month. They will, however, continue to play with their feet until they can sit steadily, which is usually between seven and nine months, some even later."

Miss Tenenbaum Weds Mr. Saul At Mayfair Club

With her bridesmaids wearing gowns of yellow marquisette and carrying yellow calla lilies, Miss Phyllis Tenenbaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Philip Tenenbaum, became the bride of Ralph Lewis Saul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Saul, of Lawrenceville, last evening. Rabbi Harry H. Epstein officiated at the ceremony held at the Mayfair Club. Mrs. Alyce Schwartz was her sister's matron of honor and little Ann Schwartz was junior bridesmaid. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sol Stein, sister of the groom; Miss Judy Abraham, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Alvin Halpern, Mrs. Stanley Tenenbaum, Misses Joanne Harris, Anita Epstein, Rita Lincoln and Nathalie Levy.

Hyman Saul was his son's best man and groomsmen were Sol Stein, Herbert Kolodkin, of Columbus; Irving Hurowitz, of Dalton; Bernard Gordon, of Birmingham; Daniel Nerenbaum, Stanley Tenenbaum, Marvin Blumberg and Herman Fishman. Ushers were Gordon Stein, Herman Kaplan and Dr. Hershal Isaacson.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a scalloped bertha trimmed with seed pearls. Her veil of illusion was attached to a lace cap, and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies. The bride's parents entertained at a dinner at the Mayfair Club.

After a wedding trip to New York and Canada, the couple will reside in Atlanta, and later in Lawrenceville.

WERE WOMEN BORN TO SUFFER?

"No," say lots of lucky girls. Maybe you, too, can look back on those "dreary days" and marvel that you're not bleated right from pain. For if you suffer from functional period cramps, discover—as so many other women have—the wonderful help Cardul may bring. Cardul works internally to help minimize painful contractions of the organ muscles. Thus it aids in overcoming a frequent cause of cramps. Maybe your suffering is needless, too. See what aid of this modern type can do for you. Ask for a bottle of Cardul.

Does Good Humor Girl Get Man?

By DORIS LOCKERMAN
Constitution Associate Editor

The romance analysts who won't take chemistry for an answer and have to go and make something out of every affair of the heart, have decided, in a current magazine, that the real come-on of the sirens has never been beauty nor background nor even proximity... but, of all things, simply good humor.

Cosmopolitan Magazine has gone way back in the ages to probe the charms of such devastating creatures as Nell Gwyn, Lady Hamilton, DuBarry, Pampadour, and all of them, they found, were "frank and good-natured."

The author says Magda Lupescu and the Duchess of Windsor are not raving beauties but both of them are gay and witty, and that Sylvia Gable (Mrs. Rhet Butler) found prettier girls dancing abreast of her in every chorus line, yet... she was irresistibly appealing in a friendly sort of way, and (oh) she got her man.

Humor has always been a nice thing to have around, like a shot of penicillin, if things got too rugged, but now that the experts have found it is a specific for love, we can forget Oscar Wilde who said sourly that "nothing spoils a romance as much as a sense of humor in a woman," and bank on Thomas Carlyle, a much stabler citizen, who said:

"True humor springs not more from the head than from the heart; it is not contempt, its essence is love; it issues not in laughter, but in still smiles, which lie far deeper."

Note To Chester

I am not my neighbor Harold Martin's full-time secretary, only when he is out of town. The media and gentlemen who chat with Martin are such leisurely, graceful souls, full of knowledge about ballads and phobias and poetry, so devoid of purposes and grim causes, that I encourage them to think I am his Girl Friday. I permit them to dictate a few lines to me now and then to leave for him when he returns. I enjoy the chore. It gives me a chance to brush up on my shorthand, and maybe snag some of his fans for myself.

Yesterday a perky little lady in a pretty black hat, feeling very chipper, she said, because she had just become a great-grandmother for the second time, bounced in to tell Mr. Martin how smart Chester is.

Now, I have had enough of cats since Smutnose, a panther in feline's clothing of my childhood, devoured my favorite meadowlark, and if there is anything Martin does not need to be told is how smart that cat of his is. But this caller was cute and it was a dull day so I listened anyway.

She said she herself was the mistress of a wondrous cat named Little Brother, who passed away recently, and left her with sad memories of the way he used to pounce a paw on the telephone hook to cut off her conversations, tug at her gown when he was in need of catnip, and generally ingratiate himself with his brilliance. "And I had to meet Chester," she said, brightly. "So I got up from my sickbed the last time they had a cat show to meet him personally. And I found him! And you know, he is everything Mr. Martin says, and more."

Then she told me that Chester was asleep, the little darling, when she arrived at his cage, but she spoke to him gently and told him she had come to see him.

"He opened one eye, looked at me, closed it and went back to sleep," she said, overlooking his rudeness. "And I said, Chester! That isn't enough! I want to see both eyes!"

Well, Chester yawned and stretched himself and finally got both eyes open, looked her full in the face, closed them again and went back to sleep.

"You naughty cat!" his caller fussed. "You open your eyes and look at me! And stand up and let me look at you!"

She talked to that cat straight. She didn't mince words. And do you know what that dumb animal did?

He stood up, turned around, bowed, held out his paw, and just as she reached for it, he lay down and went back to sleep.

I have a note to tell Mr. Martin to tell Chester what he missed.

Visit With AAs Provides Good Entertainment

By BESSIE S. STAFFORD, Woman's Editor Emerita.

Several days ago a friend asked me if I would like to go out for an enjoyable evening.

With the hesitancy of an atom bomb, I replied yes. He took me to the Atlanta Group of A. A. cophic Anonymous. I went. I had a good time.

Countless articles have been written in newspapers and magazines on this subject, but I wonder how many people in Atlanta know, for today it is one of the largest social organizations in the world, where happy and contented people meet twice weekly for a good time.

In the years I have been writing for the Atlanta Constitution, I have written about parties of all kinds, but never have I seen any better-dressed women or more prosperous-looking men.

To realize that some of them work on the bowery of different places not very long ago, was almost unbelievable.

The gentleman who took me to the meeting told me he had been on Skid Row. Today, a few years later, he is an acceptable member of society and is welcome in his friends' homes.

Furthermore, he does not hesitate to answer that he belongs to A. A. whenever offered a drink. He senses that people admire and respect an A. A. member but that nobody likes a drunk.

Put on your best bib and tucker some Friday night, and stop by the attractive clubrooms at 552 West Peachtree, to learn for yourself how this fine group of Atlantans has rehabilitated themselves completely and become a credit to the community.

More visits to the A. A. clubrooms will mean less work for the police and courts. Stop by and say "hello" any time between 11:30 a. m. and 10 p. m. A secretary is on duty to discuss alcoholic problems with you in private seven days a week.

Tarver To Speak At Bainbridge

BAINBRIDGE — Jack Tarver, Constitution State News Service Associate Editor of The Atlanta Constitution, will be the principal speaker at the Ladies' Night of the Bainbridge Rotary Club here today.

Tarver recently returned from a nine-month tour of South America as the recipient of a $5,000 fellowship from the Ogden Reid Foundation.

Beer Truckman Robbed of $100; $1,700 Overlooked

Highwaymen last night robbed a beer truck driver of $100 and several checks on Stewart Avenue, S. W., but overlooked $1,700, police said.

Lonnie Clark, a driver for the Dodd Distributing Company, said he and a Negro helper, Buford Bailey, made several deliveries in the vicinity of Stewart and Lakewood Avenues.

En route back to Atlanta, Clark said an auto occupied by two white men pulled beside the truck. "Just a minute," one of the men called.

"I thought it was the police, so I stopped," Clark said.

One of the bandits, his hat pulled down to shade his face, opened the door and seized a large leather wallet Clark carried. He ripped a leather strap holding the wallet to Clark's belt and ordered: "Keep driving."

Clark told Fulton Det. I. M. Eason the wallet contained only about $100 and several checks received for deliveries. He said the bandit overlooked approximately $1,700.

GERMANS DESPAIR AS RUSSIA SAYS RETURN OF PRISONERS COMPLETED

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) — Russia announced last night that repatriation of German war prisoners has been completed. The news chilled hundreds of thousands of Germans. It killed the last hope of family after family that a missing father, husband or son might return from the war.

"It is frightening, terrible," said one. Dr. Kurt Schumacher, West Germany's Socialist leader, declared: "There are hundreds of thousands of German prisoners still in Russia."

Victorious Smathers Catches Up Sleep

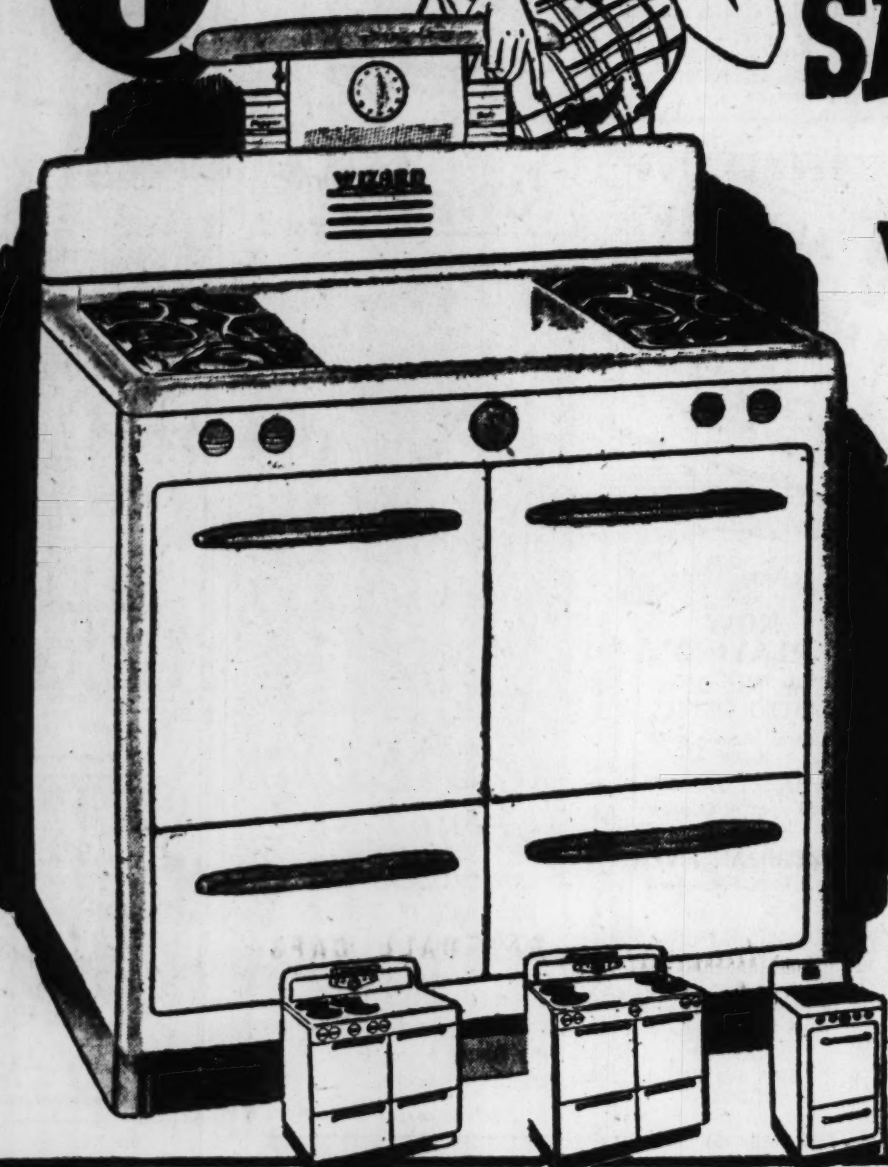

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. George Smathers got caught up on his sleep yesterday after defeating Sen. Claude Pepper in Florida's Democratic primary, Tuesday.

He remained at home with his family and was "out" to most callers.

Pepper Too Hot on Race Issue, Senator Russell Says in Florida Vote Analysis

WASHINGTON—Georgia Congressional leaders had a mixed reaction to the upset victory achieved by Rep. George A. Smathers over the veteran Sen. Claude Pepper in the Florida primaries.

While Georgia members were somewhat divided in their sentiments over the outcome of the hotly-contested Florida election, few of them chose to make any open comment.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, however, offered an analysis of the Pepper defeat which seemed to reflect the consensus of Georgia Congressmen.

He attributed Pepper's downfall in large measure to the work of the CIO and other labor groups in the State where normally he has commanded his greatest strength—the northern tier of Florida counties, or those falling more closely below the Georgia and Alabama lines.

This is the section of the State from which Sen. Pepper comes. Its population is made up more largely of the old-fashioned type of Southern Democrats, much as the people of Georgia and Alabama, whereas the rest of the State, in recent years, has grown by people moving in from other parts of the country, for the most part—those attracted by the tourist movement to Florida.

On the other hand, Sen. Russell said, Pepper held Smathers to only a 54-vote lead in Miami, Smathers' home and the most populous city of the State. Prior to the election it had been thought Smathers could not win without ing which he has commanded there in the past. Russell said there undoubtedly were other factors, among them Pepper's liberal leanings and his mild support of some parts of the President's controversial civil defense program. He said one interpretation that could be put on the primary result was that "Florida has returned to the Confederacy."

Bear Raid on Radio-TV Issues Spreads to Other Groups

NEW YORK—(AP)—Selling forces let loose with some high-powered ammunition in the stock market late Thursday. Radio-television issues were the weakest, dropping an extreme of more than five points. This group was under pressure all day and lost further ground in the final hour.

Toward the close pressure spread to other major groups, notably rails, motors and aircraft. Leaders in this division lost fractions to a round point.

The balance of the market was also shaky, but prices for the most part were marked down only fractionally.

Some brokers suggested the implications behind President Truman's statement that defense spending for 1951-52 will be smaller than now may have inspired liquidation of stocks.

In the case of TV issues, disquieting trade news was a factor. Chrysler common gave no immediate response to settlement of the 100-day strike against the company, but dropped late in the day along with the rest of the market.

Plunging down in the TV group for losses of three to five points were Zenith, Emerson, Philco and Motorola. Off a point or more were Admiral, Radio Corp. and Magnavox.

Also lower were General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Grumman Aircraft, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Republic Aircraft, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central Southern Railway, Union Pacific, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, Sears, Roebuck, American Telephone and Telegraph, Dow Chemical, Du Pont, Phillips Morris, Barnard Oil, United Air Lines, and certain stocks.

Railway issues tended downward in the bond market. U. S. Government held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Lower in the curb were United Shoe Machinery, S. I. Lawrence Corp., Raytheon Mfg., Muter Co., Gorman Mfg., Fantele Metallurgical, Electric Bond and Share, Claude Neon, Cities Service, and Canadian Marconi. Answor, Kap, Crete Petroleum, Illinois Zinc, and Louisiana Land advanced.

Stolidity of Chrysler common despite the strike to the financial district—where the strike has been anticipated for some time. More surprising to many observers was the ability of the price to hold up in the face of the long and costly strike. Some observers suggested that the liquidation of TV stocks was evidently touched off by news from Emerson Radio Co. Wednesday. The company announced production has been stopped on all TV units except new models and priced well below comparable units previously turned out by the company.

Benjamin Abrams, Emerson President, said his company has encountered "a real softening up in many markets in the last few weeks. Softening of the market, Abrams added, forced the company to introduce the new models deeper than planned.

"Retailing Daily," a trade publication, reported lagging TV sales in Chicago and Philadelphia. The company announced had indicated a seasonal decline in sales had started earlier than expected.

Grain, Soybean Prices Fluctuate

CHICAGO—(AP)—Grains and soybeans fluctuated nervously Thursday. Wheat started strong, then slipped sharply. Wheat moved up and then down with corn, but later turned firm. Soybean and corn and oats were weak most of the session.

What was bought on continued unfavorable weather in both the Southwest and the North. Wheat and corn were weak, but later turned firm. Soybean and corn and oats were weak most of the session.

200 FLYING FINGERS—Twenty Atlanta and Decatur women pianists of the Decatur Piano Ensemble will be presented by the Decatur Lions Club in concert at 8:30 p. m. tonight at the Decatur City Auditorium. The group, which performs on 10 pianos, is well-known throughout State. Its yearly concerts are features of music season.

Atlanta Music Club to Open With Student Concert

Atlantans To Protest Postal Cut

Protesting the recent order curtailing postal service, Atlanta letter carriers met last night and voted to send two delegates to a national protest meeting to be held in Washington May 15.

The delegates selected are Horace Chapman and George Chapman, who are not related.

They will represent Atlanta Branch No. 3827, National Association of Letter Carriers, in an attempt to get Congress to rescind its order of April 18 calling for a reduction in postal appropriations.

Branch Pres. Loy S. Bell called the legislation "one of the most serious things letter-carriers have ever been confronted with."

Several members declared the drop in funds, resulting in a reduction in personnel, is a great disservice to the public. One delivery a day, they indicated, throws the postal service back to the days of the pony express.

Others pointed out that carriers are already doing as much physical labor as they can do without injuring their health, adding that their jobs have always been "one of service and not money-making propositions."

A carrier from Decatur, where the one delivery a day has been in operation since Monday, described the changed system "as pitiful and chaotic." One man was forced to work until nine o'clock at night to finish his route, he said.

Also to be presented in concerts tonight will be the Emory Glee Club and the Decatur Piano Ensemble.

The Emory singers, under the direction of Dr. Malcolm Dewey, will join Contralto Soloist Beverly Wolff in the annual Spring concert at 8:30 p. m. tonight in Glenn Memorial Auditorium.

The Decatur Piano Ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Rogers Gilbreath, will be presented by the Decatur Lions' Club in a concert at 8:30 p. m. in the Decatur City Auditorium.

The Music Club program, first of three concerts in the two-day festival, will open to members of the club and all persons interested in the new club undertaking.

The Student Concert Guild will be represented by Gloria Florence, Clarissa Shaffer and Stephen Worley, pianists; Raymond Page and Edward Fritchett, violinists; Susan Martin, flutist, and the male quartet: Johnnie Gover, Billy Maret, Chuck McClellan and Barry Lynch.

The Ensemble Group will feature eight of its members: Nadine Borden, Georgine Akin, Sol Zimberoff, Tora Rehm, Antonette Roberts, Regina Pudney, Jean Sterrett and Margaret Fairlie.

The Junior Music Club will present "A Day with Chopin," at 3 p. m. tomorrow afternoon, and the Opera Workshop will present a program including excerpts from nine operas as the final program of the festival at 8:15 tomorrow night. All programs will be at the E. Rivers Auditorium.

Trainers Pessimistic
On Eve of Derby

THE REVISED ELEGY

(Note—Thomas Gray, who owns Oil Capitol, a Derby challenger, bears the same name as the author of the famous elegy. His new elegy follows.)

The curfew tolls the knell of mutuel's play.
The players wind out sadly from the track.
Forgotten now the tickets thrown away,
Forgotten all the punks that wandered back.

The boast of breeding and of speed and power,
And that Calumet and King Ranch bred,
Await, alike, the inevitable hour,
The paths of players lead into the red.

Full many a colt of purest ray serene,
Rums like a mule, when entered in some race,
I only hope Oil Capitol can screen
Your Host or Hill Prince in the final pace.

(Note—We suggested to Thomas Gray that he might have improved as a horse breeder but slipped as a poet since he wrote the elegy.)

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—In the widening buzz of voices that you always hear on Derby eve, it is the talk and opinions of leading trainers that should count most. Most of these voices are pessimistic.

Once in a while a trainer such as Ivan Packe or an owner such as Fred Hooper will tell you his horse will win by six lengths. Which Hooper Jr. did. But in the main they tell you what they think, with a pessimistic touch.

"The odds against Lawrin were 8 to 1," Ben Jones said. "I didn't feel too good about him. I thought Whirlaway and Citation would win, but I wasn't keen about Pensive and I didn't like Ponder a bit. Not at 50 to 1. Theory? I think we have just an outside chance. After what Theory has shown, how can I say he'll beat Hill Prince, Your Host, Middleground and the others? I'd say the odds should be about 10 to 1 or 12 to 1 against him. Longer odds have won a Derby."

"They did last year," someone commented.

"We might have a little better luck than some of the others," Ben said.

We had a short talk with Maxie Hirsch, the King Ranch impresario:

"I knew Middleground was a fine horse last summer, the first time I saw him run. There were only two things about him that worried me. One was the condition of his ankles and hoofs. The other was his ability to go a mile and a quarter. His final workout back in New York answered that one. His physical make-up is sound. I believe he can go the distance. And I'm not sure Your Host can outrun him at a mile or a mile and a quarter. Middleground is pretty fast too. From what I've seen I'd say Hill Prince was the horse to beat. He can run and he can handle the route. I told you the night before the 1948 Derby that Assault would win. It didn't rain. The rain started early that morning. Just in time. And Assault was around 9 to 1. I believe Middleground has as good a chance as I thought Assault had. It will be a tough race—one of the toughest. This can be the most open Derby we've had in many years."

J. H. Hayes, Hill Prince trainer—"We have a good sound horse with Eddie Arcaro riding. Too many things can happen in a horse race to allow predicting. You saw Hill Prince run ninth once and win twice this year. That's racing luck. A slow starter is more likely to get into a jam than a front runner. But we have a strong, fast, sound horse who can handle the stretch but who still needs his share of racing luck. All winners do. I believe Eddie Arcaro has been around long enough to work out any problems that might suddenly pop up."

Your Host H. L. Daniels, trainer of Your Host—"Your Host has done everything I've asked him to, both Winter and Spring. He started his big streak on Dec. 26 and has never slipped once. He has won every big stake without trouble and is in better shape today than he has been before. I'll admit he still has to prove that he can hold his speed in a race for a mile and a quarter. But so do the others. He is not only fast, but dead game. Johnston, Count Fleet and Hoop Jr. all broke well in front and won going away. Why not Your Host, who is as fast as they were? Winning the Derby from wire to wire isn't anything new."

Trainer H. Trosiek, Oil Capitol—"We gave Oil Capitol a busy two-year-old season, and a busy Florida season this Spring. He was improving every start. Then we decided to give him a needed rest and not rush him back. He was ready to go for the Blue Grass Stakes, but he needed that work. Who says Your Host is a faster horse? Your Host won his mile-and-a-half race in 1:48.4-5; Oil Capitol won at the same distance in 1:49.1-5. He was a very fine horse this Winter. Ask Ben Jones. I can't believe he has gone back in two months. I'm not predicting any winner. But I think we have a chance, a good chance. We have a pretty good horse, ready to run."

Preston Burch, Brookmeade Stable—"Maybe I don't belong here, but here I am. I brought two horses along that did all right in the New Orleans Derby and the Chesapeake Stakes. Maybe this is another race. I just have an idea that a number of upsets may take place in this race. At least I can't see any Citations around, and there may be several Ponders."

Sylvester Velthe, Mr. Trouble—"If they keep on cutting Mr. Trouble's price he may wind up favorite. I think he started at 50 to 1. Then 60, 80, 100, and 20 to 1. Then we finally won a good one and I forgot to look for his odds. Maybe he's 3 to 5. Mr. Trouble I would call an improving horse. Maybe he has waited too long to improve. But he's a better horse than anyone believed he could ever be a month ago."

"I think 80 to 1 was a trifle high on Mr. Trouble. I think 5 to 1 or 6 to 1 or whatever it is might be a little short. Mr. Trouble is a pretty nice horse, who can also run some. How much? I won't know until Saturday afternoon."

Hogan Unleashes Hot 64

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—(AP)—Bantam Ben Hogan, still after his first comeback triumph, grabbed the first round lead in the $10,000 Greenbrier Open Golf Tournament yesterday with a six-under-par 64.

The plucky little Hershey, Pa. veteran had his iron game working beautifully as he took a two-stroke edge over host pro Sammy Snead and Henry Ransom, of St. Andrews, Ill., each of whom had a 68.

In all, 15 in the field of 27 cracked par in a blazing sun. Chick Harbert, of Detroit, was right behind Snead and Ransom with a 67 while five others were tied with 68's.

Hogan, who explained that he "just played around and hit a few in," had three birdies on each nine as he put together his best score since returning to the competitive early this year.

The little better missed last year's tournament over the Greenbrier Hotel's "old white" championship course because of automobile accident injuries that ap-

Dodgers Smash
Cubs; Bucs inBankhead Develops Sore
Arm; Fernandez Homers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Brooklyn Dodgers consolidated their berth at the top of the National League's standings by crushing the Chicago Cubs, 10-2, yesterday behind Dan Bankhead and Erv Palica at Chicago.

Brooklyn welcomed Starter Walter Dubiel like a long lost relative, scoring two runs in the first inning and knocking him out in the third with five more.

Bankhead, making his second start, departed in the sixth, complaining of a bad right shoulder.

Dodger Captain Pee Wee Reese played in his 1,000 major league game but the celebration was short-lived as Umpire Babe Pinelli thumped the Dodger shortstop out of the game for the first time in his career. The penalty came after Reese tossed his bat into the air after being called out on strikes in the fifth inning.

Home runs decided the other two games in the National League. The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Giants, 3-1, on Nanny Fernandez' two-run homer with two out in the ninth and the Boston Braves crushed the Cincinnati Reds, 12-6, on a quartet of homers.

Larry Jansen, who tossed up 36 home run balls last year, went all the way for the Giants against Cliff Chambers. Jansen had a 1-0 lead going into the seventh when Johnny Hoop home run led the score and set the stage for Fernandez' clout two innings later.

Earl Torgeson, Sam Jethroe, Willard Marshall and Connie Ryan homered in the Braves' display of power against the Reds. Marshall drove home five runs. Vern Bickford and Bob Chipman divided the Boston pitching with Chapman arranging credit for the victory. Herminio Wehmer, who won a two-hitter the last time out, was the loser.

Dick Sisler, batting in five runs with five hits in five times at bat—including a home run—led the Philadelphia Phillies in a 9-6 assault against the St. Louis Cardinals in a night game at St. Louis.

ALLOWS ONLY ONE HIT IN LAST TWO GAMES
Roosevelt's Eddie Webster

Eddie Webster Flings No-Hitter;
Murphy Edges Smith in 11 InningsRoosevelt Star Faces Only 27 Batters;
Billy Stewart Chokes Rebs on One Blow

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

City League pitchers had less trouble yesterday than a henpecked man whose wife and mother-in-law are out of town on an extended vacation.

Roosevelt's Eddie Webster pitched to the absolute minimum possible in a seven-inning game when he fired a no-hitter to snuff out Bass, who had tossed one previously.

Webster, who knocked in one run, and Bob Dawkins were the only Crimson Tiders to solve Doyl O'Keefe's Billy Stewart, allowed some poked a double, the game's only extra base poke. Pair gave up only six hits.

The remarkable thing about Stewart's great stint in beating Brown is that it is the third successive time that O'Keefe fling has given up just one safety. Jimmy Niswonger and Frank Tippet gave Murphy only one in a practice game last Friday, and Niswonger held Smith to a single knock in a league game Tuesday.

Pepper Rodgers' fifth inning single over short robbed Stewart of a no-hitter yesterday at Glenn Field. Hard-luck McGee let the Irish find him for two of their three blows in the fourth inning. Dave Taylor's double and Claude Gilstrap's single producing the lone run.

Heist gave the Smithies their only two blows in seven and two-thirds innings before Williamson came in to fling hitting, walkless ball and fan four the rest of the way. Carl Fletcher's Hill Streeters have made just four hits in their last three league outings.

Two errors and J. W. King's solid single brought in the winning run in the 11th. An error and Fred Miller's rousing single had given Murphy a 1-0 lead in the first, but an error and Lamar Smith's triple had knotted it in the fourth.

Fulton's Jim Cook struck out nine in piecing together his fine job. Donald Jordan, Freshman Redbird keyman, threw the only two-time base hit. Harry Goss moved from second base to shortstop to take the place of Harold Sullivan, the latter having quit school to get married.

Other drivers already entered for Sunday's program, the only AAA-sanctioned meet in the South before the 500, include Lee Walard, Buster Warke, Tommy Hershiser, Hank Rogers, Bill Schindler and Bill Gouse. The card starts at 1 p. m. with the time trials, while the first of six races is set for 3 p. m. In case of rain, it will be postponed until next Saturday, May 13.

Very few people will believe it, but Walt Brown, the genial banker from Massapequa, Long Island, finished fourth in the national AAA standings in 1949 without a victory in any major event.

Brown, another Indianapolis 500 driver entered in the AAA big-car meet at Lakewood Park Sunday, did it by never finishing out of the money in any race 100 miles or over.

His 1949 record reads like this: Ninth at Indianapolis; tenth at Milwaukee, Wis.; third at Trenton, N. J.; seventh at Springfield, Ill.; second at Milwaukee; fifth at DuQuoin, Ill.; fourth at Syracuse, N. Y.; eighth at Detroit, Mich.; first at Springfield, Ill.; eleventh at Langhorne, Pa.; sixth at Sacramento, Cal.; and sixth at Del Mar, California.

According to Brown, his biggest thrill occurred at Indianapolis where, at the start of the race, he found himself without a car. His break came on the fifty-eighth lap when Emil Andres, driving the Tuffy Off Special, complained that he couldn't handle the car. Brown immediately stepped into it and roared to a ninth place finish. Because of that performance, he was awarded the car for the 1950 running of the 500.

Very few Georgia fans will forget the way he handled himself and a flaming car at Lakewood Park in 1947. It was a 100-mile marathon and Brown was leading the field after 77 laps when his car burst into flames on the fourth corner. He could easily have

White Sox Drob
Yankees, 15-0Bob Cain Blanks
Bombers on 5 Hits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The meek Chicago White Sox battered the World Champion New York Yankees, 15-0, yesterday for one of the soundest drubbings ever handed the Bronx Bombers.

To add insult to injury the shelling was administered by Bob Cain, a young left-hander who gained his start in organized baseball with the New York Giants, across-the-river-rivals of the Yankees. Cain, purchased from the Giants' Minneapolis American Association farm by the White Sox last year, blanked the champs on five hits, three of them by little Phil Rizuto.

The Sox, in winning their third game in eight starts, belabored Eddie Lopat and Don Johnson for 23 hits with Rookie Jim Busby and Gus Zernial leading the onslaught with four hits apiece.

Chicago salted the game away in the first inning, scoring four runs after the first two batters were out.

Meanwhile, the league-leading Tigers outscored the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-5.

The strong men in the Tiger triumph were Vic Wertz and Hoot Evers who drove in seven runs between them to enable young Art Houtteman to post his third victory of the season.

Houtteman allowed the A's only five hits but had difficulty in spotting Catcher Mike Guerra. The Cuban receiver drove home all of the Athletics' runs on a three-run homer and a double.

The Red Sox dropped a 5-4 decision to the Cleveland Indians in their own high impregnable Fenway Park citadel.

Bob Lemon went all the way for the Indians and won out in the ninth when his battery mate, Jim Hegan, doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored on Dale Mitchell's long fly to break a 4-4 tie. The run was the third batted in by Mitchell in the game against Mel Parrell who went the distance and suffered his first reversal of the season.

Joe Ostrowski stopped Washington with five hits as the St. Louis Browns defeated the Senators, 5-1, in a night game at Washington.

Warren, Smith Track Star, Hit By Auto But Wins Two Races

Pat Pierce, John Kimbro Break Marks In Broad Jump, Hurdles; Bass Qualifies 13

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Lawrence Warren, Smith High's merchant of speed, didn't let a little thing like being hit by an automobile on Wednesday keep him from winning two races in fast times on Thursday in the annual Region 3-AA track qualifying trials.

Warren was playing softball in front of his home Wednesday and, while chasing a fly ball, was hit by a car which knocked him down and bruised his right leg badly.

Yet, there was no Grady stadium, yesterday, bruised, blue leg and all, running the 100-yard dash in 10.4 and the 220 in 23.2 on raw courage alone. The efforts gave him first places in his heats in both events and qualified him for tonight's finals, which will be run off at the same site, starting at 7:45.

Smith's Coach Lloyd Kimmel is afraid the injury to Warren may eventually cost him the State meet at that. Warren, who held the City League broad jump record, could not stride mechanically because of his injury and "crouched" four straight times, thus eliminating himself in the event even though one of his false leaps tied his record of 20 feet, 6.5 inches.

Ironically, Warren's record was smashed by Murphy's Pat Pierce with a flying catapult of 20 feet, 8.5 inches.

Johnny Kimbro, Brown's Johnny-Come-Lately to stardom, took a fond glance into the grandstand at his just-arrived red-haired girl and sizzled over the high hurdles in 15.8 to smash another loop record of 15.9, established by Grady's Dan Dornier in 1948.

Frank Webster, Roosevelt's crack muscle man, twirled and let the discus go farther than his Region 3-AA husky has so far this year, 133 feet, 8.4 inches.

Coach Phil Alexander's Graham Bell, inventor of more points than any Bass athlete has managed, 67.5 for the season, qualified in three events—javelin, shot and discus. His teammate, Tommy Moore, who is leading the region golf tournament going into the final round at North Fulton today, also qualified in the broad jump.

Bass qualified 13 men for tonight's finals, exclusive of the half mile, mile and 880 relay events, in which it was unnecessary to qualify.

Murphy's loop champions came up with 12 qualifiers, Grady 11, Smith 10, Brown eight, Roosevelt six and O'Keefe six. The first three place finishers in all events tonight will be eligible to compete in the State meet in Athens next week.

All trackmen listed below will compete tonight.

CHANNING COPE'S ALMANAC

Cumming Honors
Fescue Association

FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1950

Suggestion of the day: If you're not interested in the Kentucky 31 Fescue Association Field Day at Cumming today, you might attend the irrigation conference at the College of Agriculture, Athens.

FIRST ACRE IN '45

In 1945 there were a few dabs of fescue grass growing in Georgia, mostly a row or two in the grass plots of the Experiments Stations. One pasture of fescue and ladino had been planted by the Soil Conservation Service in the Milledgeville District in 1943. Our first acre of Kentucky 31 fescue grass was planted in August, 1945.

A few farmers in Forsyth County adopted fescue in 1946 and did well with it, with the result that more than 600 farmers of that county became fescue growers in 1947. Among them were the veteran trainees headed by their vocational teachers, Messrs. Cates and Coats, of the Soil Conservation Service, gave devoted service.

The Kentucky 31 Fescue Association of Georgia was formed at this time with Cumming as its capital. The town, led by Mayor Ottwell, turned out en masse to give its support to the infant organization. A field day was held with free fried chicken for all who came. This pleasant practice has continued for the past three years and the crowds have increased each year. So has the interest in the grass.

None of the original growers have dropped out and scores of new growers have adopted the grass. Farmers Orr, Holland, Valley, Wilson, Summerour and the other early planters have been joined by countless others. Today at Cumming the fescue growers from around over the state will assemble to rejoice over the expansion of their favorite grass, to learn of the new practices, and to fraternize around the tables of steaming fried mountain chicken. They have every reason to rejoice, for nothing has so completely revolutionized farming for the better in Georgia as their favorite grass.

Experiment stations, vocational teachers, county agents, the Production and Marketing Administration and other agencies are giving it preference these days. The Soil Conservation Service realized its value from the beginning.

Miss Susan Myrick, of the Macintosh Telegraph, will make the only formal speech at the Cumming festival today. A few outstanding farmers will be introduced. Your humble servant will preside. There will be chicken for all.

Come up to Cumming today and mingle with these fine folks from over the state and catch a bit of their enthusiasm. It will do you good.

Cordially,

Channing Cope

VOTE FOR TALMADGE JUNE 28TH

THE LEAVESDROPPER

Random bits of conversation overheard around town:

Small girl on Lakewood trolley singing while mother blushes: "What'll you have? Pabst's Blue Ribbon!"

Gentleman, passing Whitehall Street dress shop, musingly reads aloud sign in window: "We'll gladly remove any garment."

Comment overheard on Alabama Street regarding the Florida electorate's overthrow of Sen. Pepper after his 14-year climb up the Senatorial seniority ladder: "How come the papers say we ought to keep our Senator 'cause he's got so much seniority and at the same time they say Florida did a good thing in electing a freshman?"

Readers are invited to send in amusing or provocative snatches of conversation they hear.

CITY HALL NEWS

Owners Co-operating In Slum Cleanup Plan

Atlanta's reactivated, five-year effort to eliminate sub-standard living conditions is showing results, Councilman John A. White, Chairman of Council's Slum Clearance Committee, announced.

White said the Health and Building Inspection divisions have submitted figures showing that the Health Department has inspected 22,490 units and that 7,608 property owners have made necessary corrections since the program was inaugurated.

He added the Building Department has inspected 14,084 units in 7,153 buildings and that needed repairs have been made in 1,519 instances. Notices have been sent to 5,487 owners advising them of the repairs or installations needed to make the quarters meet standards.

"This means that we are making real progress," White said. "The job is a tedious one and we must have the co-operation of owners. We know we are getting results and that our approach is right because a vast majority of the owners are doing everything possible to conform to the standards."

To Attend Funeral

Atlanta's City Hall will be closed at 1:30 p. m. today so that City officials and employees may attend funeral services of City Building Inspector Marvin Harper, who died Wednesday after a heart attack.

Councilman Douglas Wood, Chairman of Council's Tax Committee under whose direction the Building Division functions, has called a special committee session for 10 a. m. tomorrow to recommend a successor to Harper. Although no one in authority would make any statement, it was said a concerted effort is underway to nominate W. R. Wofford, Harper's chief assistant. Council probably will elect a successor at its May 15 meeting and if a long-standing precedent is followed, the nominee of the committee will get the post.

Reports on Meet

Harold Dobbs, Chief of the Slum Clearance Division of the City Health Department, has reported to his colleagues on the slum clearance conference he attended last week at the University of North Carolina. He told of the most recent developments in inspection work and the latest procedures in obtaining co-operation of property owners.

Delay Park Opening

The $500,000 Pitman Negro Park will not be ready for opening before some time in July, Mayor Hartsfield and William C. Pauley, Landscape Engineer in charge of the project, have decided. Pauley told the Mayor that work is progressing more slowly than was at first anticipated and that the June opening date will not materialize. The project is a joint Atlanta-Fulton County undertaking to provide better facilities for Negroes.

Discuss Auditorium

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday talked Municipal Auditorium problems with Aldermen Dowse Donalson and Roscoe Aitor. Both are members of the Municipal Buildings and Athletic Committee and are interested in fees charged for rental of the structure. He also discussed waterworks problems with Waterworks Manager Paul Weir, and conferred with Jack Gray, Airport Manager.

COURTS AND COUNTY AFFAIRS

Eleven to Run Against Incumbent Committeemen

Eleven Fulton County citizens have qualified in opposition to eight incumbent Democratic committeemen. They were apparently stimulated by a series of Constitution articles. The candidates are seeking places on the 74-man committee which sets candidate qualifications and fixes primary rules and dates. They will be voted upon June 28. The County has 39 election districts.

Several admitted their interest was whetted by a series of articles written by Constitution Political Editor M. L. St. John, describing the importance of the committeeman in elections. Local Democratic officials termed the revived interest in Democratic affairs gratifying. The job pays no salary.

They added that only the names of committeemen and their opponents in the contested races will appear on voting machines. Unopposed incumbent committeemen are considered renominated. Those in the contested races are: Atlanta--Second Ward, W. C. "Bill" Campbell, J. F. Aldred, incumbent; Third Ward, Manley L. Bruner, Homer G. Agnew, incumbent; Fourth Ward, Gaines V. Haley, C. M. Bolen, incumbent; Fifth Ward, Sam G. Dittelbach, Tom Branch, incumbent, and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Charles L. Pair, O. B. Cawthon, newly appointed incumbent; Sixth Ward, Maurice K. Laster, C. P. Swint, William R. Greenleaf, W. I. Johnson, incumbent.

East Point--Charles C. Mathers, Howard L. Carmichael, incumbent; College Park--George P. Whitman, Jr., James A. Sewell, incumbent.

Your Mind's Mirror

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is it natural for a child to "have the gimmes"?

Answer: It is natural for a child to want whatever he believes will give him pleasure, and also to think that his parents, who appear to him all-powerful, can gratify all his wants if they wish to. Parents who let themselves be coaxed into giving children more than they can afford keep this illusion alive, and will suffer for it later. The way to teach a child to face the reality of his financial limitations is to give him an allowance, covering more and more of his needs as he grows older, and to make him keep within it.

to allow parents to regard them as a foolproof way of measuring a child's intelligence and potentialities for growth. The results of such tests depend too much on the state of a child's emotions and his attitude toward the examiner to be regarded as "final."

Answer: Not mainly, at any rate. A child who supposedly develops a neurotic fear of dogs from being bitten by one is more likely to be using the experience as an outlet for another fear which is too painful to acknowledge—for example, fear of his father. Many of the phobias on which people think phobias are based prove under analysis to be imaginary or exaggerated. A child—or an adult—with a phobia is suffering from the effects of a chronic situation like living in fear of being punished, not from any one "fright."

Are intelligence tests "foolproof"?

Answer: By no means, says Morris Krugman, psychologist and Assistant Superintendent of New York City schools. "The I. Q. is a single instrument and is only one of many factors used by psychologists to judge a person." It would be better to stop talking about "I. Q." altogether than Opening lead: Queen of hearts.

The handling of various card combinations would appear to be a stereotyped procedure. However, committing to memory the various diagrams is not sufficient, for even in this field, the human factor must not be ignored. In today's hand declarer made a play which appeared unsound in the abstract, but was eminently sound in view of the evidence before him.

South became declarer at a contract of three no trump and West led the queen of hearts which was taken with the king in dummy. Declarer had eight quickly available tricks, but he could see that he would have his work cut out for him, building up the ninth before the heart suit was established against him.

With larceny in his heart, he led a low club off dummy in the hope that East had the ace. If East could be induced to stay off the first trick, it was his intention to abandon the club suit in the hope that the diamonds would yield four fast tricks. But this scheme dissolved into thin air when West took the trick with the ace.

West then led the jack of hearts and declarer refused the trick. Convinced that his hand lacked an entry, West realized the futility of further attacks with the heart suit and abandoned the suit in favor of leading the deuce of spades.

Though the soundness of West's defense is indisputable, nevertheless, declarer by drawing the proper inferences from West's actions was able to make a decidedly abnormal play in diamonds to bring home the contract. West's abandonment of the heart suit amounted to a clear confession that he lacked the king of diamonds, for if he had that card for entry, he would certainly have established the hearts with one more lead. East, therefore, became clearly marked with that card.

Declarer ran off three club tricks on the last of which West discarded the four of spades. By this time, declarer was convinced that West had only a singleton diamond and surely no more than two of the suit. It was evident from the play that West had five hearts, because if he had only four, he would have set up another trick in the suit, knowing his partner could get in and cash a heart. His play of the spades shows that he had four or at least three of the suit, for he has shown up with three clubs.

Since East was marked with the king of diamonds and since it was further marked that the king was not singleton, declarer realized that he had nothing to gain by leading the ace of diamonds and following it with a low one to the queen. On that line of play, East's king would surely smother dummy's queen. Declarer chose instead to lead the queen from dummy in the hope that West held a singleton 10 or jack and that it would be smothered under East's king and declarer's ace. East covered with the king, South the ace, and West, perforce, played the 10. The seven of diamonds then drove out East's jack and the rest of the suit was solid. Declarer, therefore, fulfilled his contract with an over-trick.

Declarer had margin of safety in his method of play. Even if he had miscalculated and the diamonds were 2-2, nothing would have been lost by his play.

Cottage Cheese, Pineapple Done Up in Flaky Pastry

Many a cook will swear that the flakiest, tenderest pie crusts are made with lard as the shortening, and that no other fat can achieve quite comparable results. Flaky, tender crust is an absolute necessity for any pie, if it's to be edible. A filling may be of superlative flavor and quality, but if the crust is tough and soggy or crumbles apart when the pie is cut, then the filling is like a perky flowered bonnet atop mama's washday getup.

Here's the pie and here's the pastry to make this dessert an attractive combination for any dessert problem.

Cottage cheese pie with a pineapple topping, done up in flaky pastry.

PINEAPPLE COTTAGE CHEESE PIE

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
1 1/2 cups creamed cottage cheese
2 eggs
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup milk
Pineapple slices

Press cottage cheese through sieve twice. Separate eggs. Combine all ingredients but egg whites, blending well. Beat whites until stiff and fold into the mixture. Bake in a 450 degree oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 40 minutes longer or until filling is firm and pie is nicely browned. Spread with pineapple glaze and returned to the oven for 5 minutes or until glaze is set.

Pineapple Glaze: Drain 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple thoroughly. Combine 1/2 cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Add 1/2 cup pineapple juice and cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Add pineapple and cool. Spread by spoonfuls over cheese filling of pie.

FLAKY PASTRY

2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup chilled lard
About 1/2 cup cold water

Sift flour and salt and cut lard into small bits, adding it to flour mix and working it into the dry ingredients until mixture is in coarse lumps. Add water a tablespoon at a time, but no more than is necessary to blend ingredients. Toss lightly

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

with a fork while adding water. Press mixture firmly into a ball before rolling. This is enough for two single crusts or one two-crust pie.

Brown n' Serve Rolls Will Keep In Summertime

Brown n' Serve rolls of many kinds are available in all stores. As Summer approaches, questions have been raised concerning the keeping quality of these pressure-baked products under hot, humid conditions. Experiments in the laboratories of the American Institute of Baking reveal that the keeping qualities of Brown n' Serve products are as good as those of the completely baked rolls. The housewife will find therefore that she may keep Brown n' Serve products under the same conditions as she would freshly finished baked goods, and experience no undue difficulty with mold. Unlike the fully baked products, the Brown n' Serve rolls and bread may be refrigerated without deleterious effect and thereby further protect it against mold growth in unusually difficult weather.

Ordinary rolls and breads stale faster in the refrigerator than at room temperature; but with Brown n' Serve products, this staling is of no consequence, since the housewife's completion of the baking process entirely reverses the staling process.

Experience has shown that the housewife obtains better products if she completes the baking process at a temperature of 400 to 425 degrees instead of the higher temperatures, which were originally recommended. At the lower temperatures a few more minutes of baking are required, but these lower temperatures permit the inside of the baked product to become thoroughly baked without too much browning of the crust, so that the finished products have a pleasant texture and good eating quality.

Watch carefully when cooking bacon, remembering that it darkens somewhat after it is removed from the pan. Use low heat so it will cook slowly, and the fat will be creamy white and mild flavored.

HARBINGER OF SPRING

Serve Fresh Asparagus

There was a time when tender, young bunches of asparagus, stood upright in a shallow pan of water in a grocery window, spelled S-P-R-I-N-G. It also meant good eating, even if only for a short season, for asparagus was then an April-May luxury vegetable.

Now the season is stretched out all year for canned and frozen asparagus is always available. So whether you want one of these or the excellent fresh vegetable, now's the time to serve asparagus.

If you buy it fresh, select straight, green, brittle stalks with heavy compact tips and only an inch or so of woody base. Allow 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pounds for two people.

HOW TO COOK ASPARAGUS

Break off each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. (Cook tough ends for soup.) Remove scales from stalks with knife. Then wash thoroughly, using soft brush to remove sand.

The easiest way to cook asparagus is in a skillet. Spread stalks in two layers in 9 or 10-inch skillet. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt. Pour on boiling water to depth of one inch. Cover, boil 12 to 15 minutes or until lower part of stalk is just tender. Lift out with perforated pancake turner. Drain thoroughly before adding butter or sauce.

Here are some excellent sauces for this Spring vegetable:

MOCK HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 egg yolks, beaten

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in saucepan, blend in flour, add milk, and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add remainder of butter, salt and lemon juice and stir into beaten egg yolks. Place over boiling water and cook with constant stirring about 2 minutes, until sauce is thick and smooth. Makes one cup.

QUICK CHEESE SAUCE

1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup process American Cheddar cheese

Pour milk in top of double boiler. Slice cheese into it. Heat, over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until well blended. Makes 1 cup. For variety add 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire or 2 teaspoons prepared mustard.

No Potato Trouble

Annoying, isn't it, when those large Irish potatoes refuse to cook tender through to the center? You eliminate this cooking kink, if you add a cup of cold water which forces the heat to the middle. It's a trick direct from the Emerald Isle.

A combination of pineapple, grapefruit and orange juices makes a delicious starter for a company dinner. Chill the fruit juices well and serve in your prettiest small glasses.

Cook Bacon Right Way

With bacon on the market in plentiful supply and selling at attractive prices, now's the time to review the basic principles for cooking this favorite meat. First of all, it's important to use fresh bacon which has been stored in the home refrigerator no longer than 10 days. Second, the slices should be placed in an unheated skillet.

A good way to separate chilled bacon slices is to remove from the package the number desired. Then as they heat in the pan, they will easily come apart. Another pointer in cooking bacon is to use low heat, so that the slices will lie flat and won't scorch during cooking. If you and your family like your bacon extra crisp, pour off the fat as it accumulates and drain bacon slices on absorbent paper.

For a mouth-watering snack, try a broiled open-face cheese sandwich topped with bacon and a slice of tomato. To prepare, toast the bread on one side and place a slice of cheese on the second side. Top with two half slices of bacon and broil until the cheese is bubbly and the bacon crisp. Just before serving, top with a slice of tomato.

VERSATILE VEGETABLE

Try New Dresses for Spinach

Spinach is such a versatile vegetable it's a shame it has slipped to a "comic" vegetable. It's bright emerald-green color, and appealing texture and its current thriftiness should make it a frequently served vegetable. Fresh spinach or the quick-frozen kind may be used in any of these recipes:

CREAMED CHOPPED SPINACH WITH ALMONDS

Cook chopped spinach. Drain well and season to taste. Add about one cup cream (1 cup condensed undiluted cream of mushroom soup may be used instead of cream). Arrange on warm serving dish. Smooth top and garnish with four tablespoons sliced almonds, or sautéed mushrooms.

SPINACH AND CHEESE MOUNDS

Like tiny soufflés. Cook chopped spinach and drain if necessary. Add 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 2 egg yolks slightly beaten, ½ teaspoon salt, a few grains of cayenne pepper, and grated nutmeg. Cook five minutes stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in two unbeaten egg whites. Drop by rounded tablespoons into frying pan—brown in butter. Serve with grilled tomatoes, and cream or Hollandaise Sauce. Four to six servings.

NEAPOLITAN SPINACH AU GRATIN

Cook whole leaf spinach and drain if necessary. Place in shallow baking dish which has been well rubbed with a cut clove of garlic. Cover with one cup tomato sauce or condensed tomato soup (undiluted). Sprinkle with ½ cup grated cheese, and set in oven until dish is bubbly and cheese delicately browned. Serve from its own baking dish. Four to six servings.

NEW FOR YOU

Three Products Sure To Please

Many of the new products for the home come to an editor's desk for testing. Sometimes they are food items, sometimes gadgets, or even products for the man of the house to test. Today we report on all three.

NEW INDIVIDUAL CHEESES

The Borden Cheese Company is now packaging Vera-Sharp process cheese in individual foil-wrapped portions. The individual triangular portions simplify service and add a new touch to cheese tray desserts.

The circular plastic box holds three one-ounce portions. While individual portions of Vera-Sharp may be served at the dinner table, they are practical for lunch box desserts too. Put an individually wrapped portion in the packed lunch with a piece of fruit—the two complement one another and are easy out-of-hand eating.

INGENIOUS NUT CHOPPER

Chopping nuts need not be the tedious chore it used to be because one nut packer has devised an ingenious nut chopper to do the job. This new nut chopper is yours with 25 cents and the coupon from a can of Funsten's vacuum-packed shell pecans now on the market. You merely put shelled nuts in the upper part of the chopper, turn the metal handle, and the nuts drop, chopped coarse or fine, into a plastic measuring cup in the lower part. For sprinkling nuts as you chop, just twist a red plastic cap on the base of the chopper, and an opening appears.

NEW CAR SHINE PRODUCT

Autobrite is a new product of American Home Products Corporation which makes it possible to give the family car a shine which lasts six months or more. It gives a glass-hard surface that keeps heat and moisture from penetrating paint and chrome and protects against oxidation, rust and corrosion. This means the finish of your car won't be spoiled by blistering sun, rains, dust, fumes or even corrosive salt sea air. This new polish is equally effective on refrigerators, ranges, chrome surfaces, bath tubs, plumbing fixtures and metals of all kinds.

This delicious casserole of hard-cooked eggs with a tangy cheese sauce, seasoned with sliced olives, onion and celery is one you'll want to serve many times.

CREAMED EGG CASSEROLE

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 cup grated American cheese
6 shelled, hard-cooked eggs
1 cup cooked sliced celery
¼ cup sliced olives (green or stuffed)
½ cup buttered bread crumbs

Melt butter; add flour and seasonings and blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Add minced onion and grated cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Cut hard-cooked eggs in quarters lengthwise. Place half the egg slices, half celery and olive slivers in bottom of buttered 1½-quart casserole. Top with half the sauce. Repeat sprinkling buttered crumbs on top. Bake in a moderate oven, 325 degrees, for 20 minutes, until lightly browned. Six servings.

Fruit and Cheese Gelatin Salad

You'll want to make this beautiful fruit cheese mold with some of the first ripe strawberries of the season. Sliced Winter avocado gives it a delicate green color and delightful flavor. There's a cup of cottage cheese in it, too, to make it hearty enough for a luncheon salad.

FRUIT CHEESE MOLD

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) plain gelatin
1 cup cold water
½ cup hot water
½ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup fresh strawberries
Granulated sugar
Lettuce
French dressing

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot water. Add lemon juice and salt. Cool. Force cottage cheese through sieve and blend into gelatin mixture. Chill until slightly thickened. Slice strawberries and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Cut avocado into halves lengthwise, remove seed and skin, and cut into cubes. Fold fruits into slightly thickened gelatin mixture. Turn into oiled mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce-garnished plate. Serve with French dressing. Serves about six.

Pineapple juice may be used to give flavor and moisture to mashed sweet potatoes.

LONGEST AND LOUDEST WEEKEND

Dooley's Skeleton Rises Anew and Emory Is Agog

By MILTON CHAMBERS

Dooley, that rattling dried up bag of connected bones, is tearing around the Emory University campus again today. The old boy's skeleton, fresh from a year in the grave, rose last night to commence the 1950 celebration next week of the annual Dooley's Frolics, the longest and loudest weekend that comes to Emory all year.

A torchlight parade along Fraternity row gathered marchers and torches as it passed each frat house and dormitory. Senior Class President Tom Stritch led the parade.

The Emory band, matching its drum beat against the shouting and singing of the marchers, wound its way to Dooley's grave. Three hundred students watched the tombstone, chanting Dooley's name three times before the skeleton rose to greet them.

Pretty girls, one for each fraternity, gathered around as the band blared forth "Them Dry Bones."

Even the seniors, also with a new custom, pushed back their flat-brimmed straw hats, twirled their canes and dropped dignity to welcome the figure back to the campus.

300 SKUNKS ASSAULT CANADA TOWN, LEAVING 'OUTRAGED HUNDREDS AGASP

PARIS, Ont.—(UP)—An army of 300 skunks made an all-out attack on Paris yesterday, leaving hundreds of wounded human dignities in its wake.

The 5,000 residents of Paris were outraged at the unprovoked pungent assault. They organized a counter-offensive to wipe out the invaders, which indiscriminately victimized men, women and children from ambush under porches and in chicken coops.

Chickens were killed. Food was made inedible. Houses were unbearable. A skirmish between a group of girls and a family of skunks in the basement of the YWCA forced all residents to evacuate.

A bounty of 50 cents a head, dead or alive, was offered for every skunk presented to Town Councillor Alan Clarkson.

Dooley, whose spirit first Friday from 5 p. m. until 6:30 p. m. brought the annual rite to Emory.

Many years ago, rises every May to preside over the dances and celebration that will take place this year on May 12 and 13. The Frolics lawn displays will be on view for all the school next year.

This year's theme is "Song Titles," with each campus group competing for two coveted cups, one for the best display and one for the best costumes.

A-MOTORS STALLED BY A-BOMBSA Run Up to Mars? Savant
Here Says Only 'Joe' Bars It

By BILL BORING

Tomorrow's world—if the Russians will get out of the way—would make what H. G. Wells once dreamed up look like the Pioneer Age.

After a hard day at the office you might be in a mind to crank up the old rocket (speed 50 light years per) and drop in on a Martian for supper.

A flying saucer would be as outmoded as a T-model.

You get this feeling talking with one of these atom scientists, as they toss the things around, bend light, shoot gamma rays and sit on lightning bolts.

What's holding it all up is the cantankerousness of Joe Stalin. He's keeping us manufacturing atom bombs instead of letting us build atom motors. Dr. Richard C. Hitchcock, Westinghouse Research Laboratories science lecturer, said here.

Dr. Hitchcock didn't mention the bomb. In Westinghouse's dictionary the bomb "isn't." The company is interested in fission and all that sort of stuff purely from a constructive standpoint. Dr. Hitchcock doesn't mention the bomb.

"Let's talk about motors," he says. Then he pulls one out of his 25-ton bag of scientific tricks. The things runs on nuclear energy—the same sort of stuff that sets off the "unmentionable."

Maybe someday a nuclear energy motor will be grinding away—or whatever atom motors do—on top of Stone Mountain, creating energy to light Atlanta, run factories, trains, automobiles.

It could happen tomorrow—well, give the scientists a week or so—if it wasn't for Russia and the necessary manufacture of the unmentionables.

And would life be different? Just how different is up to your own imagination. Your guess is as good as Dr. Hitchcock's, he says. Seriously, hardly, anything is impossible in science, according to Dr. Hitchcock. "You can do anything with it," he says, "but one must remember that science has no morality. You must control it or it will destroy you."

By scientific control, Dr. Hitchcock is able to let "lightning" pass through his body. A quarter million volts! So much electricity that his hair stands on end like a porcupine's. But don't you try it! There's the matter of control, you know.

This and other scientific tricks—such as smashing an atom like shooting a popgun—were demonstrated by Dr. Hitchcock in the Georgia Tech YMCA.

The author of more than 50 published papers on physics and electronics and of a book on "The Physics of Radio," Dr. Hitchcock has been a research engineer for Westinghouse for 17 years.

Dental Official Hails 'Screen Test'

Atlanta's free health testing program was highly praised here by Dr. Harold Hillenbrand, of Chicago, Ill., executive secretary of the American Dental Association.

Addressing the Northern District Dental Society at the Ansley Hotel, Dr. Hillenbrand pointed out: "If the pattern of this program were extended at the State level and if communities would attack their own health problems, there would be no need for so-called socialization of medicine and dentistry."

Dr. Hillenbrand

MAY DAY REHEARSAL—Crabs, clams and fish will be among the underwater creatures depicted by Agnes Scott students in their annual May Day celebration at 5 p. m. tomorrow. The sea lovelies are, left to right, Pat Thomason, of Atlanta; Kassie Simmons, of Pascagoula, Miss., and Marijean Alexander, of Decatur.Dr. Sunderman Is Appointed To Emory Post

Dr. F. William Sunderman, who recently came to Atlanta to head the section on clinical pathology in the Communicable Disease Center, has been appointed professor of clinical medicine at Emory University, Emory President Dr. Goodrich C. White has announced. Other medical school appointments are: Dr. Martin Frohisher, Jr., Dr. Alexander D. Langmuir, Dr. Richard E. Felder, Dr. Elizabeth Gambrell, Dr. Lee N. Cordrey, Dr. David James Hughes, Dr. Robert F. Mabon, Dr. Irvin Trinchler and Aloysius I. Miller. Miss Helen Goodroe was appointed instructor in nursing.

New teachers announced in the College of Arts and Sciences are: Dr. Joseph M. Conant, assistant professor of classics; Dr. Granville B. Johnson, assistant professor of education; William Franklin Ingram, instructor in geology, and Richard F. Maher, instructor in speech.

Two Battle Detective

Traffic was halted in front of 1010 Pryor St. S. W., last night as a lone detective struggled in the street with two men he sought to place under arrest.

Det. C. C. Hamby said when he reached the scene, automobiles were halted in the street and pedestrians lined the sidewalk. In the street, Det. H. J. Standridge struggled with two men.

The two were placed under arrest on a minor charge, Hamby related. He said he went to record the license number of the automobile they occupied, leaving Standridge with the prisoners.

Overhearing a commotion, Hamby raced back to find Standridge down in the street struggling with the pair. Standridge received a black eye and bruises.

The two, listed as Luther Bray, 22, of 693 Capitol Ave., and Clarence O'Neal, 24, of 3608 Lacy Cir., were jailed for a hearing at 4 p. m. today. Bray was placed under $1,400 bond for drunk and disorderly conduct, assault, resisting arrest, assault on an officer and destroying city property. O'Neal was held under $1,200 bond for drunk and disorderly conduct, assault, assault on an officer and resisting arrest.

Woman With Gun Held

Mrs. Caroline Scott, 18, of 230 Alexander St., N. W., yesterday was bond over under $100 bond each for carrying a pistol without a license and pointing a pistol at another following a complaint by her estranged husband.

Pt. L. O. Davis and L. Rowell said the husband, Robert H. Scott, Jr., said she came to his office at 8 North Ave., N. W., and at pistol point forced him to put his hands into the air. He told police he wrested the pistol from her.

Scott reported a similar occurrence Wednesday night. At the Recorder's Court hearing, Mrs. Scott wore a brace for spinal injuries sustained in a fall at 8 North Ave. on April 10. Scott said at that time she came to the office and complained of not feeling well. While he went for a glass of water, he said she fell over a balcony banister and struck the floor 15 feet below.

Recorder A. W. Callaway ordered Mrs. Scott held for Fulton Criminal Court.

Man Suffers Heat Stroke

F. M. Corley, 77, of Lithia Springs, yesterday was treated at Grady Hospital after suffering a heat stroke in downtown Atlanta. Sgt. E. T. Tumlin said. The elderly man collapsed in front of 87 Hunter St., S. W.

Uninvited Guest

Detectives today were investigating a 52-year-old Atlanta as the uninvited guest in two West End homes.

Mrs. Harry Johnson, 992 Allene Ave., S. W., told police the man suddenly appeared in the living room of her home, informed her he was an escaped convict and headed a pair of trousers.

As a neighbor walked in, Mrs. Johnson said, the man left. She followed him next door to 998 Allene Ave., where, she said, he took a clock from the mantle.

Dets. H. F. Brown and W. E. Petty said the man, listed as James M. Ferguson, of Route 5, was held for investigation.

Education Sunday

Georgia's children, who go to school five days a week, will put in a little overtime Sunday, May 21. That date has been designated as Education Sunday. But the kids should enjoy this one, for their parents will sit through class with them. The Citizens' Committee on Education has urged all ministers to use education as their sermon on that date. It is believed by the Committee that full lay participation in the improvement of Georgia schools can be encouraged by the ministry of the State, and many ministers have already expressed a willingness to recognize an education day.

DE LUXE FRENCH TOAST SANDWICHES

Golden brown French toast sandwiches with a meaty filling make good eating any day of the week. What's more you can vary the filling with a selection of meats and make this special sandwich different every time it's served. The meats from which you can choose are spicy deviled ham, assorted cold cuts, flavorful luncheon meat, sliced tongue, and thin slices of tender ham. To make these sandwiches, mix together slightly beaten egg with some milk and salt. Dip slices of bread in the mixture and fry in a little hot fat until lightly brown. Remove slices from the frying pan and top with the meat. Place a second slice of French toast on this and serve on a plate with a sweet pickle and an olive.

Pancake Cookery

Of course the folks will eat in a hurry when the pancakes smoke up the atmosphere. Grandma simply added two tablespoons of shortening to the batter. No greasing of the griddle is necessary so there is no smoke.

Blend honey and peanut butter and spread on crisp rye wafers for an afternoon snack-time treat.

BENEFITS OF GOOD BREAKFASTS

If you skip or skimp breakfast, you're short-changing yourself, for science has proof of this as shown in the chart above. At the left is a quick breakfast trick of soft cooking eggs in the bottom of the double boiler after the cereal is ready. Beauty is an inside job that starts with a good basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, breadstuff and butter, as pictured in photograph at the right.

Eat a Good Breakfast To Start a Good Day

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD
Constitution Home Economics Editor

Breakfast... a word with about as many meanings as love!

What does it mean to you—a mad rush, a cup of black coffee, or just nothing? Or does it mean golden orange juice, sugar crusted fresh red strawberries, glistening grapefruit sections, a couple of dozen kinds of ready-to-eat and hot cereals, creamy scrambled eggs, fluffy jelly omelet, crisp strips of bacon, tiny links of sausage, flavorful slices of ham, a "stack" of butter-topped pancakes, a "wheel" of a waffle, cinnamon toast, syrupy pecan rolls, bran muffins, tender sour milk biscuits—all with a benediction of excellent hot coffee. Is that breakfast to you?

Breakfast is a purely selfish meal! Skip it if you want to but you're hurting yourself because before lunch time you'll be tired, irritable and just plain hungry. Then, too, if you don't eat breakfast or eat an inadequate one it will be almost impossible to meet the requirements of good nutrition for you.

IT'S SMART TO EAT BREAKFAST

Scientific research shows you'll do better if you eat a good breakfast. You are more likely to work better, to be "sharper" in your thinking and actions, and to be calmer and steadier while you work.

It's been scientifically proven through extensive research conducted by one of our leading medical schools that breakfast is an important meal. An experiment was set up to find out whether breakfast, or no breakfast, made any difference in a person's (1) work output, (2) reaction time, and (3) tremor. A bicycle-like machine, called an ergometer, measured the work output. A series of lights and a timing machine measured the reaction time, or how quick the subjects were "on the draw." Another electrical machine measured the neuromuscular tremor, or trembling of the outstretched arm. The tests extended over several months. The tests showed:

Without breakfast, work output goes down. Reactions are slower. Tremor increases. With breakfast, work output is greater. Reactions are faster. Tremor slows down.

PLANNING MAKES FOR BETTER BREAKFASTS

One way to encourage better family breakfast habits is to plan appetizing, attractive meals and to organize the preparation time.

Don't say you don't have time to get breakfast. If you have time to make coffee you have time to prepare a good breakfast. Coffee-making time is usually 10 minutes and that's long enough to "whip up" a good meal that fits a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread, butter, and supplies 1/4 to 1/2 of our daily food needs.

About a year ago we worked with the foods staff, School of Home Economics, University of Georgia, on a research project

Bologna-Scramble Saturday Special

Here's an easy specialty for those quick Saturday noon meals. It's called a bologna-scramble. To prepare, mix well beaten eggs with a little milk and some chopped bologna. Season with salt, pour the mixture into a frying pan and scramble in a small amount of butter or margarine. Add a little mustard to the bologna-scramble just before serving, maybe some chopped chives, too, if you have any on hand. For variations of this dish, substitute tasty cervelat in place of the bologna and if you want to make an extra savory dish, add a dash of any of the following seasonings: basil, sweet marjoram or thyme. Cold cuts such as bologna and cervelat are handy meats to keep on hand in the refrigerator for lots of occasions. For instance, there's nothing better for a husky school boy's 4 o'clock snack than a thick slice of bologna between slices of buttered rye bread. Then, too, a handsome platter of cold cuts arranged in a pretty design is always popular at such affairs as bridge luncheons or canasta parties.
